WEALTHY MAN DISAPPEARED

Luther J. Hall of Hallsville, Ill., Lost in St. Louis.

HIS WIFE IS DISTRACTED.

HE HAD $1000 IN CASH ON HIS PERSON.

Mrs. Hall Received an Incoherent Letter From Him and Thinks He May Have Been Beaten and Robbed.

Luther J. Hall, a wealthy merchant of Hallsville, Ill., has dropped out of all human knowledge in St. Louis, with nearly $1000 in his possession and a gold watch and other jewels likely to attract the murderous thug.

His wife has written to Chief of Police Campbell to spare no expense or trouble in tracing him. Mrs. Hall says in her letter to the chief that she was acquainted with him when she was a small girl of 11 years.

She says that her husband went to St. Louis from their home on Aug. 17, without apprising her of his intention and for several days his disappearance was set down in Hallsville as the strangest sort of a mystery.

Several days after his departure she received a letter from him dated at St. Louis and purporting to have been written at Jefferson and Franklin avenues. It stated briefly that he was in some kind of trouble and urged her to come to him at once.

An indication that he was mentally disturbed appeared in the fact that he did not appoint a rendezvous, although he instructed her to address a letter to him at the postoffice station in the Union Depot.

Two letters, written between the time she heard from him and the date of her letter to Chief Campbell, and one telegram have brought no response.

Mrs. Hall is distracted. She has no inkling where she might find the missing man in a city of over a half million people. Her idea is that Hall has been foully dealt with and she cites the large amount of money on his person as a reason for such suspicion.

Her letter also indicates that Hall may be wandering, without knowledge of his whereabouts, from the suggestion contained in her communication that he may have gone from St. Louis to Longotee or Carrierburg, Ind.

A minute description of Hall furnished by the wife show that he is about five feet ten and one-half inches tall and weighs about 185 pounds. His eyes are brown and the hair and mustache are of nearly the same shade. The little finger of the left hand is mashed and deformed. At the time of his disappearance he was dressed in a dark blue suit, with no vest and a black string tie.

The police are looking for Hall in the haunts inndicated as his abode in the letter written to his wife.

THE DUKE IS BANKRUPT

Manchester, Who Owes Everybody, Everywhere, Must Now Resign From All His Clubs.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Duke of Manchester today was adjudicated a bankrupt, entailing his resignation from all his clubs. The petitions to the bankruptcy court included one from the young nobleman himself, whose acceptances are so widely distributed in unknown hands that his friends, for some time, have strongly urged this radical course.

TO AVENGE THE MISERY OF THE PEOPLE AND MY OWN

Assassin Bresci Tells the Italian Court Why He Took the Life of King Humbert and Declares He Had No Accomplices.

SENTENCED TO IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE

GAETANO BRESCI.

Bresci is an Italian, who lived for several years in New Jersey, working at his trade of cigarmaking at West Hoboken, where, it is claimed, the plot to kill King Humbert originated. He went to Italy in company with a woman who has been arrested at Milan as an accessory.

Bresci comes of good family. A brother is now captain in the Italian artillery. He is 31 years old, thin and effeminate in appearance, though reputed to be an energetic leader among the anarchists of this country.

MILAN, Aug. 29.—The trial of Bresci, the anarchist who on July 29 shot and killed King Humbert of Italy at Monza while his majesty was returning from a gymnastic exhibition, opened here today.

An immense crowd of people gathered about the court from early morning, seeking admission to the courtroom where only a few places were reserved for the ticket-holding public.

Bresci Calm and Indifferent.

Bresci sat in the dock, calm and almost indifferent. His counsel, Signor Martelli, head of the Milan bar and the anarchist writer, Signor Morlino, made requests on various grounds for an adjournment which were refused.

It is said that Bresci wrote to the judges declaring he would not reply to the interrogatories.

While the indictment, which was very long was being read, Bresci was apparently unmoved, and scanned the faces of the audience without any signs of fear or effrontery. The indictment showed that the assassin indulged in incessant target practice and that he prepared bullets so as to render them more dangerous.

The witnesses were then introduced. There were 11 for the prosecution and five for the defense. The examination of Bresci followed.

To Avenge the Misery of the People.

He declared he decided to kill King Humbert after the events of Milan and Sicily, "to avenge the misery of the people and my own." He added: "I acted without advice or accomplices."

The prisoner admitted the target practice and the preparation of bullets. He spoke in a low, firm voice, and said he fired three shots at three yards with his revolver. Two wooden targets were here placed on the table before the judges.

Two hours' suspension of the court ensued and then the witnesses were heard.

A brigadier of gendarmes, Salvatori, recapitulated the story of the assassination of the King. He said he saved Bresci from the crowd, who nearly lynched the assassin. Bresci when rescued was covered with blood.

Gen. Avogadro des Contes di Quinto, the king's aide de camp, who was with his majesty when the latter was killed, recounted how the king was shot, saying that the king tried to reply to a question of the witness after the crime.

His majesty said:

"I truly think——" the king stopped in the middle of sentence, said 'yes,' and then expired. The testimony of witness Galimbert and Oliviers did not adduce any new facts.

MRS. VILAS' HOSE IDENTIFIED THIEF

Burglar Hays Captured in St. Louis.

WANTED IN BATTLE CREEK.

ROBBED WIFE OF FORMER SECRETARY OF INTERIOR.

Took Gold Watches and Mrs. Vilas Stockings, the Markings Upon Which Caused His Identification by Michigan Officers.

Dainty silk hosiery of Mrs. Esther G. Vilas, wife of former Secretary of the Interior William F. Vilas of President Cleveland's first cabinet, led to the detection of Burglar Charles Hays, who robbed the Vilas residence in Battle Creek, Mich., last Friday and was captured in St. Louis Sunday night.

Sheriff H. R. Elliott and Deputy Sheriff Williams of Calhoun County, Michigan, arrived here Wednesday to take Hays back to Battle Creek.

Williams is in Jefferson City to obtain a writ of extradition from the governor.

In Hays' possession was found Mrs. Vilas' exquisite gold watch, made especially for her while the Vilases were touring Europe after the secretary left the cabinet. Mrs. Vilas' initials were embroidered in silk on the band of her stockings.

A fine gold watch, the property of Mrs. Florence E. Whitcomb, a sister of Mrs. Vilas, was also found on Hays and a solid gold hunting case watch, belonging to a male member of the Vilas household.

The robbery caused gossip in the fashionable circles of Battle Creek when it was discovered last Saturday morning on the awakening of the Vilases that a burglar had ransacked the residence during the early morning of Friday while the family were wrapped in slumber after an evening of gay entertainment.

The Whitcomb residence, where the robbery occurred and where the Vilases were visiting, is situated at 145 Maple street, Battle Creek, in an aristocratic suburb.

Entrance was effected by Hays through a window in the rear. He seemed to be a particular burglar, as he confined his seizures to the three watches and hosiery, although there was a quantity of other rich jewels in the dressers that he turned up side down.

But the stealing of Mrs. Vilas' silk stockings, which lay near the bed on which some of the women were sleeping, is the most inexplicable phase of the Vilas-Whitcomb robbery. The officers can not fathom his object unless, as they surmise, he bethought himself of some dusky sweetheart to whom he might give them as a present. He seems to have left Battle Creek the night of the burglary and come direct to St. Louis. He was captured here at Seventh and Morgan streets by Officers Sheehan and Heckel.

The articles found upon him were marked with the initials of the owners and corresponded with the descriptions sent out by the Battle Creek officials.

LOVED WIFE SO WELL WHEN SEPARATED FROM HER HE CUT HIS THROAT

Courtney J. Forsyth in a Despondent Moment Endeavored to Kill Himself, but He Will Recover.

Aug. 28.—I write this to declare myself. They all say when one commits suicide he is crazy, but I am in my right mind. But when one is deserted by all, especially by one whom he would die for, he is then apt to do anything, and that is my case. I am broke and have other troubles, and do not wish to explain. I will free myself from all. I will say good-by. Yours, COURTNEY J. FORSYTH.

Forsyth was married by Justice Walker in St. Louis June 19, 1899, to Miss Dora Schneider of Greenville, Ill., stepdaughter of John Huffman, the turfman. Forsyth at that time was 27 years old and his bride 22.

Both he and his wife owned race horses. Forsyth followed the circuit and lost heavily at New Orleans and Chicago. He claims his wife was induced to leave him because of these losses.

Mrs. Forsyth is now with her sister, Mrs. Frank Hentz, at Greenville. She declares her husband was intensely jealous and had made her life miserable on this account.

Forsyth is a son of Col. Bob Forsyth of Louisville, Ky., the well-known horseman, who is know at Windsor, Canada.

VIRGINIA HARNED IS ILL

Sothern's Wife, Cast for Ophelia, Prostrated by Heat and Cannot Rehearse.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Virginia Harned (Mrs. E. H. Sothern) has been prostrated by the heat and her condition has caused her husband much uneasiness. She recently arrived from Europe, and the contrast from the snows of the Swiss Alps to the tropical humidity of New York made her ill and a physical collapse followed. She is cast for the part of Ophelia in "Hamlet," which Mr. Sothern presents next month, but she has been unable to attend any of the rehearsals.

WILL RUSSIA DRAW OFF?

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A special dispatch from St. Petersburg contains the assertion that Russia, almost immediately, will notify the Powers that she considers the relief of the Pekin legations as the final accomplishment of the military task of the allied forces. There is nothing, however, in the afternoon papers here to confirm this.

BICYCLE FALL RESTORES SIGHT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The case of Jay Hennessy, a boy of 9 years, whose sight was restored through a bicycle accident, is interesting medical men in this vicinity. The boy, ever since he was seven months old, has been totally blind in the left eye. A few days ago Jay rode his wheel against an obstruction in the street which threw him over the handlebars to the pavement. He struck on the left side of his head.

The following day, when the bandages were removed from his bruised head and face, the boy exclaimed to his mother: "Why, mamma, I can see better," and he quickly covered his right eye with his hand. "I can see with my left eye."

The eye seems to be as strong as the right one, except that he cannot see very fine print rapidly.

MOTHER AWAY, DAUGHTER WED

Miss Clementine Freeman Married Anton Vogt.

MRS. FREEMAN IN NEW ORLEANS

HER SON GEORGE ABDUCTED TWO WEEKS AGO.

In Her Absence in Search of the Boy Her Young Daughter Wed and Both Are Installed in Her House.

In trying to recover her 8-year-old son, George, who was kidnapped by his father two weeks ago and taken to New Orleans, Mrs. Clementine Freeman of 1118 South Fourth street has lost her daughter and namesake.

Miss Clementine Freeman, who is said by her friends to be but little past the age of 16, was married at Alton, Ill., to Anton Vogt, 7 years her senior.

The weding, which was hastened in anticipation of Mrs. Freeman's return from New Orleans, has furnished a real romance to the employes of the Banner Buggy Co., at Third street and Chouteau avenue, where both worked. Vogt as a shaft painter and Miss Freeman as telephone girl.

The office and factory force attended the wedding festivities Tuesday night en masse and there were four serenades during the evening.

For two months past it had been noted in the factory and at the office of the buggy company that the two young people were fond of spending their lunch hour together. This was about the only chance they had to see each other, as they worked in different parts of the establishment and Vogt was barred as a visitor at the Freeman home, the mother considering her daughter too young to receive company.

When Clark Freeman, the absent head of the Fourth street household, came to the city two weeks ago and took his little son Georgie away with him the mother forgot the usual precautions for her daughter in her greater anxiety for her son, and hurried to New Orleans in pursuit, leaving the young woman by herself.

When she returns she will find her son-in-law installed in the house and very much at home.

Vogt admitted Wednesday that he had overstated his wife's age to the license clerk at Alton, but insisted that the young woman was 18 years old. He said he had written to Mrs. Freeman in New Orleans, telling her of the wedding. His own parents, who live at 2720 South Tenth street, have not yet been informed of their son's marriage.

DIED RECOVERING 60 CENTS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—To rescue 60 cents which had fallen from her hand, Mrs. Mary McInery of Brooklyn Hills, L. I., lost her life by jumping from a rapidly moving trolley car. She dropped her pocketbook while the car was going at a high rate of speed. Without a second's hesitation Mrs. McInery jumped from it. She was hurled to the pavement and her skull fractured. The pocketbook contained 60 cents and her late husband's will.

HEROIC DYING MAN

BEING SLOWLY SHOCKED TO DEATH HE WARNED RESCUERS.

"DON'T TOUCH ME!" HE CRIED.

Would-Be Rescuer Ran for Help, but When He Returned Death Had Come to Heroic Kansas City Lineman.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 29.—William T. McCracken, a lineman for the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Co., was killed last night at 6 o'clock at Mount Washington near Fairmount Park while engaged in repairing a broken telephone line. A telephone wire crossed the feed line of the electric line caused McCracken's death.

While writhing in the death agony unable to cast loose the live wire that was sending a death dealing electric current through his body, McCracken displayed a coolness and courage seldom equaled and by a timely warning prevented a would-be rescuer from sharing the fate that overtook the young lineman.

McCracken was working by himself and had mounted a pole to connect a wire broken during the storm yesterday morning. He was hauling in the loose wire when it came in contact with the trolley wire of the Metropolitan electric line running between Kansas City and Fairmount Park.

The electric current came with such force as to dislodge McCracken and he fell from the pole to the ground. But the wire remained in his hand and he could not release it.

Death was coming to him alone on the highway. His cries attracted attention and a man came running to the scene from a neighboring house. Heedless or ignorant of his danger, the stranger started to take hold of McCracken for the purpose of releasing him from his deadly danger. With that rare courage and presence of mind that characterizes a hero in the presence of death McCracken cried out:

"Don't touch me. You'll be killed! Get a dry board and stand on it and wrap your hands in a coat or hat and then you can get the wire off and not hurt yourself."

The man went in search of a board, and returning in a few minutes found McCracken dead, the wire still in his trembling hand, from which the skin and flash had been burned to the bone. All along the arm and shoulder the deadly electric current had burned its way, leaving a mass of burned flesh. The body was removed to Wagner's undertaking rooms and the coroner was notified.

NO ORATORS' LICENSE

MAYOR ZIEGENHEIN WILL REFUSE TO ISSUE PERMITS.

STREET TALK CURTAILED.

Curbstone Campaigners Turned Over to the Mercies and Discretions of the Police.

"Rah! 'Rah! We work our jaw!
We are the best you ever saw!
"First in war, first in peace,
First in the hands of the city police!"

What will the campaign street orator do without a permit to orate? Is he to be shut off from the heaven-born, constitution-guaranteed privilege of blowing himself, or will he be compelled to take his chances with a partisan police force and a long-suffering public?

It looks as though things had indeed come to this melancholy pass, for Mayor Ziegenhein has decided that he will issue no permits for outdoor political meetings during this campaign.

The first to apply were Louis Kober and Charles J. Meyer, representing the Social Democracy. Their request was refused.

Not that they were apprehensive, perhaps, but only that they wanted to keep within the law, did they make the usual request. However, the public has been patiently waiting for this very opportunity to get even with the campaign missionary who murders sleep and renders the pavements impassable.

"Dear friends, we gather here tonight"—
That speaker was shot dead.
"This homicide was justified."
Both judge and jury said.

Every four years "the old agitation" is renewed. This time we are threatened with even a worse danger. The prominent citizen who supported McKinley four years ago will be howling on this corner, while the prominent citizen who supported Bryan four years ago, but who has changed his views, will be howling on that, so there will be no end to one-gallus oratory and noise.

Thus it is "up to" the campaign orator without a permit. What will he do? Will the crowd make it a personal matter with him? Will the police protect their favorite oracles and let the crowd "get at" the others?

Is the mayor trying to solidify himself with the masses and thus insure his re-election by giving them a chance to "do up" the political bagpipes who insist on screeching at every turn? Is this matter to be injected by him into his World's Fair mayoralty campaign as the paramount issue?

What is this deep-laid scheme to curtail the rights and privileges of the campaign orator?

What is the political business "cameing" to, anyway, that such an invidious crusade, subtle as it is, should be started against the man whose business it is to uphold the palladium of our liberties?

SEARCHING FOR CANTY

HIS RELATIVES DO NOT BELIEVE HE IS DEAD.

INQUIRIES ON EAST SIDE.

Patterson Case Postponed to Enable Canty's Attorney to Prove His Client Died in Arkansas.

The assertion made by Attorney John Gernez in the Court of Criminal Correction Tuesday that his client, Edward Canty, died two weeks ago in Jonesboro, Ark., is not generally credited in East St. Louis, Canty's home.

Canty is charged with assaulting C. S. Patterson, president of the street car employes' union, on June 13. Canty was out on bond.

When the case was called before Judge Clark Mr. Gernez informed the court that a man answering Canty's description had been found dead at Jonesboro. The attorney asked that the case be continued until he could furnish proof that the dead man was Edward Canty.

Attorney Porter, counsel for the prosecution, claimed the report of Canty's death was a ruse intended to relieve his bondsman, John F. Collins, who is on Canty's bond for $1500.

The case was continued to Sept. 5 to enable Attorney Gernez to secure proofs of Canty's death.

The Post-Dispatch was not able to find a single person in East St. Louis who believes that Canty is dead.

Canty's sister, Miss Maggie Starke, and a number of relatives live in East St. Louis. The family name of Canty and Miss Starke was McClusky. On their father's death Mrs. Sweeney of 617 Summit avenue took the girl and a member of the Canty family reared the boy. The woman is now known as Miss Starke and the boy goes by the name of the foster parent.

Miss Starke and Mrs. Sweeney were out driving Tuesday and Mrs. Sweeney asserted: "She has never heard of her brother's death," he said. "I work about the place and I would have known it if Canty was dead."

Chief of Police Haas laughed when he was questioned. "You may be sure that if Ed Canty was dead I would have known it."

A veteran undertaker declared that if Canty had died away from home his body would have been brought to East St. Louis for burial. "I would have conducted the funeral," he declared.

Canty worked at the Nelson Morris slaughter house up to five weeks ago. Then he drew his pay without giving a reason. He was in robust health.

The bartender at McGowen's saloon and boarding house, near the slaughter house, resented being asked regarding Canty's whereabouts. "He left here five weeks ago," the bartender said, "and I am not giving information about his whereabouts. Go ask the butcher."

Not one of Canty's friends in either the saloons or packing house had heard that he was dead.

CRAZY AT NEW MOON

ALBERT PALMER SAYS HE IS SANE AT OTHER TIMES.

BRAIN FEVER THE CAUSE.

He Created a Disturbance and Threatened Violence, but Was Overpowered by the Police.

Albert Palmer, 29, a shoemaker, who resides with his mother at 819 South Tenth street, is a patient in the observation ward at the City Hospital.

Tuesday night he created a disturbance at his home, and threatened violence to himself and his aged mother. A policeman was called in, and after a struggle overpowered Palmer.

When Palmer arrived at the hospital he was raving about some beautiful girl, who had refused to marry him. Wednesday morning he said:

"I am a lunatic. Whenever the new moon shows itself I have one of my spells. I had brain fever when 8 years old, and that causes it.

"I don't remember anything about any woman. It is true that I recently proposed to a young girl. I knew her from childhood, and I just told her that if she thought I was the man for her we would get married. She said she did not think I was the man, and that settled it. That did not affect my mind, although I loved her."

BARBER WENT INSANE

WANTED TO SELL HIS HOME, BUT HIS WIFE SAID NO.

LOUIS BOLKHART'S SAD STATE.

Business Cares Were Too Much for a Carondelet Barber, and He Was Taken Into Custody Tuesday.

Because his wife would not agree to sell their home, that he might engage in the mattress manufacturing business, Louis Bolkhart, 39, a barber, became temporarily insane at his home, 4630 Michigan avenue, Tuesday afternoon.

A sergeant of police and two burly officers had all they wanted to do to overpower Bolkhart, and take a razor from him.

Bolkhart and his wife disagreed about the disposal of their house. Woman-like, Mrs. Bolkhart wanted to hold on to their little home. This excited Bolkhart, who believed he would soon be able to buy another home after embarking in the mattress business.

Drawing a razor from his pocket, Bolkhart, rushed into the street brandishing it above his head.

Officer Selvia caught Bolkhart at Meramec and Michigan avenue. Bolkhart struggled fiercely and two other officers ran to Selvia's assistance. Bolkhart was handcuffed and even then fought desperately.

GLASGOW HAS BUBONIC PLAGUE

Great Britain Has a Home Scare While 7000 a Week Are Dying of Cholera in India.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—While India is suffering from one of the worst outbreaks of cholera ever recorded, so that people are dying at the rate of 7000 a week, Great Britain is alarmed at the prospect of an epidemic of bubonic plague within her own boundaries. The medical authorities at Glasgow have already had several cases under their observation.

On Monday a child sickened and died within 48 hours from an illness which was at first thought to be pneumonia, but after a minute examination by the hospital authorities was pronounced plague.

Another death has occurred, and 10 families were removed to a reception house for patients suffering from this disease which the municipality has hastily established.

WIFE NOT A NEGRESS

RENESSELAER DAVIS DENIES A PERSISTENT RUMOR.

MARRIED PEARL ROBINSON.

She Declares She Is French and Although a Colored Woman Is Her Guardian She Is All White.

Renesselaer Davis, the motorman on the Eighteenth street division of the St. Louis Transit Co., who was married Tuesday afternoon to Pearl A. Robinson, denied to the Post-Dispatch that there was colored blood in the veins of his wife.

"I know the report has been circulated in the neighborhood where we live," he said, "and I wish the Post-Dispatch to contradict this rumor for me. The neighbors say that because her skin is dark, and because her hair is curly, and her eyes dark, and because she has always lived with colored people, that she is colored, too. But this is false. I have investigated and was satisfied before I married her."

Mrs. Davis, who was Pearl A. Robinson, was married to Davis Tuesday afternoon by Justice Robert Walker in his office at Tenth and Pine streets Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. She lives with Mrs. Isaac Reddick at 2916 Elliot avenue. She is 19 years old and is not unconnely. The house in which the Reddicks live is a double house. Both sides are occupied by colored people and there is not another house in the block.

Mrs. Davis says she is 19 years old. Her skin is dark, her hair undeniably kinky, her eyes are a dark brown and her teeth are very white.

"Oh yes," she said, "we were married yesterday. We were married by Justice Walker and here is our certificate. I have known Mr. Davis ever so long. Just how long I cannot remember. But we have been engaged I guess for six weeks. He is not a new man on the railroad. He has a father and mother living some place in the city but I do not know them. He lives here with us now. He has taken his meals here for several weeks.

"No, indeed, I am not colored. My father was an Englishman, born in England. My mother was French. Her name was Young. They are both dead. I do not know when they died. It was before I could remember. I have lived with Mrs. Reddick ever since I could remember. My father was a boot and shoe merchant on Olive street before he died."

Davis is considerably below the average in height. He is a motorman on the Eighteenth street line and wears badge No. 2800. He looks to be about 26 years old and is smooth shaven.

"I did want to keep our marriage a secret," he said to the Post-Dispatch, "but now I guess it is too late. I have heard the rumors about my wife and I have investigated. Her father was a German and he was engaged in the real estate business. Her mother was French, and her name was Du Brosier or something like that. I cannot remember for certain what the name was nor can I remember where her father was engaged in business."

PLAYED CLEVER GAME

DR. AHLEFELDT WORKED FASHIONABLE CONGREGATION.

ALSO FOOLED THE PREACHER.

Under Arrest in Baltimore, Will Be First Tried There, Then Sent Out West.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 29.—Dr. C. A. Von Ahlefeldt of Berlin, who is wanted by the police of several cities for various frauds, is a prisoner at Baltimore. He was identified there today by the Rev. Dr. Frederick J. Stanley of the First Presbyterian Church of this city.

Four months ago Ahlefeldt arrived here. Immediately he made friends with Dr. Stanley, to whom he confided that his brother, an officer on board a German man-of-war, making a voyage around the world, would arrive in New York in two weeks.

Dr. Stanley entertained Ahlefeldt as his guest for six weeks. In that time the visitor borrowed from the clergyman and from members of his aristocratic congregation several hundred dollars, which he promised to repay as soon as his brother's ship arrived.

But the ship never arrived and one fine morning Ahlefeldt was missing. His description was given to the police and it was not long before Dr. Stanley began to receive letters from the West and South asking for information regarding Ahlefeldt.

Dr. Stanley was summoned to Baltimore today to see if he could identify a man arrested there charged with working the bunco game. The prisoner proved to be Ahlefeldt, but the latter denies ever meeting Dr. Stanley or being in Atlantic City.

Ahlefeldt had been in Baltimore for two weeks. He had entertained the medical men of the Monumental City with an elaborate supper. He will be tried in Baltimore after which he will be served on by New Jersey authorities. Then some western city will be the next on the circuit to claim him.

CITY REVENUE IS RESTORED

State Board of Equalization Reconsiders.

ST. LOUIS REGAINS $15,000.

THE SCHOOL BOARD PROTESTED AGAINST DECREASE OF REVENUE.

At the Meeting of the Board Wednesday the Original Method of Apportionment Between City and County Was Changed.

The state board of equalization Wednesday morning decided to change the apportionment in the valuation of street railway lines so as to make the revenue of the city from these properties the same as it was last year. The saving to the city is about $15,000.

At the meeting of the State Board of Equalization at Jefferson City Wednesday morning, the board decided to change the form of the assessment of the property of the St. Louis street railway lines so as to prevent a decrease of the revenue of the city, which under the assessment originally made would have been about $15,000.

The assessment, as it is now made, apportions the street railway property between the city and county exactly as it was apportioned last year.

The board remained in session during the noon hour and completed its work at 1 o'clock this afternoon and adjourned. The only business transacted was to change the manner of apportioning the aggregate valuation of the lines comprising the United Railways of St. Louis.

The aggregate valuation was not changed, still remaining $12,680,086.55. Under this reapportionment the city will get a valuation of $12,393,233.37 and the county $286,853.18.

It was the intention of the board not to assess the United Railways Co., but the 11 component lines, as they were assessed for taxes of 1899. This will increase the apportionment of values to the city of St. Louis for taxes of 1900, $953,443.60, giving them a slight increase over the apportionment of last year. In other words, the apportionment now made will put the value of the lines in city and county back to where they were in 1899.

At the meeting Attorney-General Crow presented the following telegram which he received Wednesday morning from the St. Louis Board of Education:

"We, the finance committee of the Board of Education of St. Louis, do respectfully protest against any change of assessment for St. Louis whereby the income of our board would be diminished and beg you to protect our interests.

"J. L. FORD, chairman,
"A. B. GREEN, committee."

The amount of revenue for state purposes involved in the change is $2383.61.

The apportionment under the original form, which is now changed, was as follows:

Suburban line, 1899, $1,627,930, apportioned between city and county as follows: City, $1,026,010.99; county, $601,927.01. Total, $1,627,-938. Revenue derived from city lines for state purposes, 1899, $2,565.02; from county lines, $1,504.82.

Suburban line, 1900, $1,627,938, apportioned between the city and county as follows: City, $1,030,827.04; county, $597,110.96. Total, $1,627,938. Revenue derived from city lines for state purposes, 1900, $2,577.06; from county lines, $1,462.77.

This shows a decrease of $953,443.69 in the assessment of the Suburban lines in the city for 1900, and an increase of $953,443.60 in the assessment of that company's lines in the county for 1900 over 1899, hence the total assessments for 1899 and 1900 are the same.

The lines comprising the United Railways or Transit Co. were assessed in 1899 at $12,680,086.55, apportioned between city and county as follows: City, $12,393,-233.37; county, $286,853.18. Total, $12,680,086.55. Revenue derived from the city lines of this company for state purposes for 1899 was $30,983.08; from county lines, $717.13.

United Railways, 1900, $12,680,086.55, apportioned between city and county as follows: City, $11,439,789.77; county, $1,240,296.-78. Total, $12,680,086.55. Revenue derived from city lines for state purposes for 1900, $28,599.47; from county lines, $3,100.74. By this assessment the apportionment of the valuation of the city line of this company will bring the state $2,383.61 less for this 1900, than for 1899 and the apportionment to the county will bring an increase of that sum of money for state for 1900 over 1899.

WHY ASSESSMENT IS LAW

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 29.—All the members of the State Board of Equalization were present at the meeting of the board this morning. State Auditor Seibert having come up from St. Louis last night and Secretary of State Lesueur having come from Kansas City yesterday afternoon. The board is simply going over the records rectifying clerical errors and any other mistakes they may find in the assessment of street railways, steam railways, bridges and telegraph property and approving the work. The feeling between some of the members of the board is not the best by any means and they may have a warm time before the work is completed. The hit that the governor made at the secretary of state yesterday relative to the assessment of the Metropolitan Street Railway of Kansas City as published in the Post-Dispatch emphasises the fact that there two members are at swords points, and that when the board was fixing the assessment on the street railways of St. Louis the governor stood with the secretary of state to fix the valuation the same as for 1899 against Attorney-General Crow to increase the assessment 33 1-3 per cent over 1899, which would have increased the assessment valuation to about $25,000,000.

State Auditor Seibert and State Treasurer Pitts stood with the governor and secretary of state in this assessment. The records of the board shows that Secretary of State Lesueur moved that street railways of the City of St. Louis be assessed for 1900 the same as 1899.

Attorney-General Crow moved to amend by increasing the assessment of the street railways of St. Louis city 33 1-3 more than they were last year. The amendment was lost, Mr. Crew being the only one voting for it, with Stevens, Lesueur, Seibert and Pitts voting against. The original motion was unanimously agreed to.

Crow's motion to assess these street car lines on the basis of their value for purposes of income and sale, would have increased this assessment about 25 per cent over what it was last year. He claims that the franchise should be considered in fixing the value of these street railways for assessment; that the board had a right to and ought to assess the franchise, and that his only objection to the amount of valuation fixed by the board this year is that it is not as high as it should be, and that he assented to this assessment only because he could not get a higher one.

No explanation was made by the other members of the board why they were opposed to increasing the assessment valuation of the St. Louis street railways for 1900.

The governor stood with the attorney-general in 1899 to increase the assessment valuation of the St. Louis lines for that year on the market quotations when the earning value was not near so enormous as it is now since the consolidation of the lines.

JOHNSON WILL "TAKE A PEEP"

Prosecution Will Look Into Picture Machines.

DOESN'T POSE AS CENSOR.

SAYS CHIEF CAMPBELL DOESN'T KNOW AN IMMORAL PICTURE.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Says He Will Issue Warrants Against Keepers of Machines That Are Really Indecent.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson announced at noon Wednesday that he will "take a peep" at the so-called immoral pictures in the twenty-four machines taken by the police, and will issue warrants against the keepers of the saloons and other places where indecent pictures were shown.

"I am not going to act as censor in these cases," said Prosecutor Johnson, "and I am going to do nothing that will cause me being subpenaed as a witness in the cases. The police have given me nine names of persons in whose possession they found machines, in which they allege immoral pictures are shown. I don't know, Chief Campbell doesn't know and Lieut. Jim Johnson doesn't know just what constitutes an immoral picture. Think of Jim Johnson as an art critic."

The names given to Col. Johnson of men whose machines have been taken by the police follow:

Theodore Ingola, 701 Pine street, two machines; August Froebel, 218 North Seventh street, two machines; C. M. Ernst, 112 North Sixth street, two machines; Gerhard Krienbaum, 110 North Broadway, three machines; Joe Marre, 400 Washington avenue, one machine; J. H. and Robert Able, Terminal Hotel barroom, nine machines; J. H. Sears, Union Station, three machines; Robert Lohrer, 117 North Sixth street, one machine; William Henn, 513 North Sixth street, one machine.

"One of the warrants will be against Ingola," said Prosecutor Johnson, "as I have seen one of his machines and the pictures in it are indecent."

Section 2180 of the revised statutes is the one under which warrants against keepers of picture machines will be issued.

FOUGHT AT DELMAR GARDEN

Mexican Gentleman Forgot His Money and the Secretary of the Waiters' Union No. 16 Was Arrested.

Frank R. Schwarz, a leading member of Waiters' Union, No. 16, who has been employed at Delmar Garden during the season, was arrested there Tuesday night by Sheriff Keith of St. Louis County for disturbing the peace.

Schwarz had been waiting on a gentleman and two ladies. They ran up a bill of $8.70 for wines and then the gentleman suddenly discovered he had left his money at the hotel.

Schwarz refused to trust him and demanded the money. The headwaiter, Robert Benjamin, interfered and tried to induce Schwarz to take the customer's word.

The customer explained that he was a Mexican visiting the city and offered to send a messenger for the money.

Schwarz, however, would not agree and became violent in his language.

He and Benjamin finally came to blows and the latter had Schwarz arrested.

Schwarz says he is secretary of Waiters' Union, No. 16, and that he will cause trouble over his arrest.

Several years ago he was manager for Tony Faust.

Sheriff Keith, who knew him, allowed him to go on giving his personal bond for $100.

HOW TO BE HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED

John Ray, Aged 17, Weds Miss Lulu Gordon.

HIS INCOME IS $6 A WEEK.

BOY OBTAINED THE CONSENT OF HIS MOTHER.

Youngsters Reveled in the Ceremony and the Bride Has Completely Furnished a Little Home.

John Ray, 17-year-old bridegroom and his 19-year-old bride, who was Miss Lulu Gordon, began their domestic life Wednesday in a flat furnished by the bride at 1450 O'Fallon street.

Franklin avenue. Rev. M. B. Gott officiating. Tuesday night the couple were tendered a reception by a friend.

Their real life as married people with a home of their own to care for and make happy began Wednesday morning.

Burt Miller, 16 years old, of Twelfth and Chambers streets, acted as best man, and the maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Sadie Gordon, aged 15. Little Charlie Gordon, aged 10, was master of ceremonies.

The mission house was crowded with friends of the young couple, and congratulations were fairly showered upon them.

The youth of the groom, with his income of $6 a week, had been an objection to the marriage on the part of his mother, but she was finally prevailed on to consent.

Mrs. Ray and the young man who is now her husband have been sweethearts since their childhood days.

We used to live next dor to each other," said John, Tuesday, "and I never thought there was any girl in the world but Lulu. After she got big she got a job out at Ligget & Myers' Tobacco Factory. She put in a good word for me and then I went to work there. No one need fret about us being happy all the time."

The pair held a jubilation Tuesday night at the home of their friend, Mrs. Waney, 1124 North Newstead avenue.

Mrs. Ray is as beautiful as she is courageous. She has coal black hair and large dark eyes. Added to her other qualities there is plenty of good common sense in her composition.

"It was no use for the folks to keep objecting to John and me getting married," she says, "because we had made up our minds and didn't propose to change. I've been saving up for this event for more than a year now and three weeks ago I furnished our home at 1450 O'Fallon street.

"But we intend to move into the West End. When we lump our salaries every week we won't be as badly off as some girls I know who marry and just won't do a tap of work for their husbands. It's no disgrace to help a man, any more than it is for a man to help a woman.

"John is the best boy that ever lived. He never chews, drinks or smokes and hasn't a single bad habit. What's more he never missed a day from work and a week hasn't passed in the time I've known him when he didn't give every cent of his week's salary to his mother. Not every wife can say as much of her husband.

"We don't expect to live in a mansion, at least not for a while, but we'll be just as loving and happy as those that do, even if we can't show silks and satins and velvets with sparklers every time we peep out the window."

TRYING TO PROTECT HIS BOY

Hiram Schaeffer Was First Fined in Police Court and Then It Was Remitted.

Hiram Schaeffer a carpenter living at 8022 Vulcan street, explained to Judge Zimmermann Wednesday that he was striving to protect his 12-year-old son when the disturbance occurred for which Mrs. Margaret Neubauer of 8110 Vulcan street had him hauled into court.

"Last Monday week I found Mrs. Neubauer choking my little boy," said the prisoner. "It was necessary for me to push her away to save my boy from being choked to death. Now she claims I beat her shamefully."

"I fine you $5," said the court.

Later Schaeffer was released on payment of costs.

COLORED SOCIETIES AROUSED

Representatives of Many Secret Organizations Attend a Trial in Judge Talty's Court.

Representatives of every negro secret society in the city were in Judge Talty's courtroom Wednesday when the application of the United Brethren of Friendship for an order restraining the Independent Order of the United Brethren of Friendship from using a name so like the plaintiffs, was called.

It is claimed by the peitioner that the defendant order was organized by men who were expelled from it and that they have started the new order, using the secret work, ritual and name of the old one, in order to get revenge for their expulsion.

Judge Talty took the case under advisement.

There was much enthusiasm and generous contributions for campaign expenses. The next meeting will be held Thursday night, Sept. 6.

ON TRAMP'S TRAIL

MURDERER OF MR. AND MRS. BOBB STILL PURSUED.

CRIMINAL HAD LONG START.

The Illinois County, Where the Crime Was Committed, Offers $1000 Reward.

FREEPORT, Ill., Aug. 29.—The tramp murderer of Mr. and Mrs. John Bobb of Buena Vista, this county, is still at large, with 48 hours more start of the officers than he had yesterday. The horse that he is supposed to have stolen on the night of the murder in order that he might escape was found today a little more than a mile south of the scene of the tragedy and about two miles from the stable from which the animal was taken. On the tie rope of the halter is a blood stain, supposed to have been made by the murderer.

The majority of those who were out searching for the murderer have returned to their homes, but the officers keep up the hunt. The county has offered a reward of $1000 for the capture of the criminal, and the state's attorney wired Acting Gov. Warder today asking him to offer a reward also.

NEGRO SHOT IN THE BACK

George Nelson Received a Fatal Wound at the Hands of John Johnson, Who Escaped.

George Nelson, a negro, 34 years old, was shot in the back and probably fatally wounded in front of the freight depot of the Wells-Fargo Express Co., Eighteenth street, near Clark avenue, shortly after noon Wednesday.

John Johnson, also colored, who did the shooting, escaped.

Nelson and Johnson were both employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Their duties were to sweep out the coaches at Union Station. The quarrel grew out of the fact that Nelson, who was Johnson's superior, criticized the way in which he did his sweeping. According to the statements of eye-witnesses Nelson first drew a revolver on Johnson, but the men were separated before he had an opportunity to use it.

A few minutes later, it is said, Johnson ran up behind Nelson and put a bullet in his back.

Johnson fled as soon as he fired. Policemen went in search of him. All that is known of Johnson is that he lived somewhere on Gratiot street.

Nelson is at the City Hospital, where it is said he will probably die.

SHOWS MERCY TO SPOTSWOOD

Judge Sidener Will Parole the Wrecked Descendant of a Proud Family.

Judge Sidener, who sentenced William E. Spotswood, descendent of Gov. Sir William Spotswood of the colony of Virginia, to the workhouse, has decided to parole the prisoner.

"I am satisfied that the poor fellow was a gentleman once," was Judge Sidener's comment to the Post-Dispatch Wednesday. "I felt a pity for the fellow as he stood at the bar. He gave evidences of being a blue-blood and it is not that sort of blood that we want to fill up the workhouse with.

"After he has been at the works long enough to sober up and become respectable I am going to parole him with the understanding that if he abuses the privilege extended to him I will enforce all of the sentence."

Spotswood is the aristocratic wreck who was sentenced in the Police Court for slapping the face of his employer, Mrs. Anna McCabe, and with resisting an officer.

RED HEADLINES SCARED HIM

Festus J. Wade of St. Louis Wasn't Used to the New York Style of Journalism.

Festus J. Wade of St. Louis, now in New York, had an experience Tuesday that turned him against red headlines in newspapers. Mr. Wade noticed a New York paper with a flaming red headline reading "Queen of the Undertow." He bought a copy.

The story happened to be about Mr. Wade's own daughter, Miss Stella, and with her picture was reproduced from the Post-Dispatch, telling how the young lady had bravely tried to save a person from drowning

In the haste of going to press the New York paper left the reader in doubt as to whether Miss Wade was a living queen or a dead one. Mr. Wade rushed to a telegraph office and sent several anxious telegrams. Then he hurried to the Post-Dispatch bureau and had his mind relieved by finding that his daughter was a living heroine.

Gov. Francis and W. T. Anderson were conspicuous in their efforts to present the members to Mr. Dockery. Mr. Dockery did not make a speech. He contented himself with expressing his satisfaction at meeting the bulls and bears, working a palmleaf fan vigorously all the while.

PURSUING THE BOERS

BULLER DRIVES THEM BEYOND HELVETIA.

LOST VERY FEW MEN.

Boers Now Hold a Strong Position From Which Cavalry Cannot Dislodge Them.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Lord Roberts reports under date of Belfast, Aug. 28, as follows:

"Buller's advance occupied Machadodorp this afternoon. The enemy made a poor stand and retired northward, followed by Dundonald's mounted troops, who could not proceed beyond Helvetia on account of the difficult nature of the country and the enemy taking up a position too strong to be dislodged by the mounted troops. It appears that Buller's casualties were very few.

"French continued the movement today as far as Elandsfontaine from which he turned the enemy out with no difficulty. The latter retired very rapidly, leaving cooked food behind."

Gen. Buller's casualties Aug. 27 were: Killed—One officer and 13 men; wounded, seven officers and 57 men.

BOERS TOLD TO SPARE NONE.

Amsterdam Papers Give This Advice and Say Americans in South Africa Are Wearing Distinguishing Badges.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—The Boers are urged to wage a war of extermination against the English and to spare none, by the press of Amsterdam.

Fifty-six former inhabitants of Croatia, who had emigrated to South Africa and lost everything by the war, have returned to Austria and lodged complaints with the Austrian foreign office against the English government.

MISS PHEBE COUZINS SUED.

The St. Louis Woman Will Fight an Action Brought Against Her at Louisiana, Mo.

Miss Phebe Couzins, famous as a former United States marshal in St. Louis, and as a woman suffragist and promoter of various reforms, was defendant in a justice's court a few days ago at Louisiana, Mo., where she has been living for a year past.

Miss Couzins has been in feeble health and went to Louisiana for medical treatment. There is a sanitarium in that city, in connection with a sulphur spring which flows from a depth of nearly 2000 feet, the result of boring for natural gas a few years ago.

Miss Couzins was at the sanitarium taking the baths and drinking the water.

Recently the physicians filed suit against her for a bill for professional services. She admitted the bill, but claimed that the plaintiffs were indebted to her in a sum which more than offsets their claim for her services rendered in promoting the sanitarium among her St. Louis friends and acquaintances.

It is understood that Miss Couzins will file a counter suit and fight the issue with her old-time vigor, nowithstanding her feeble health.

WILL STRIKE IN TEN DAYS

If Anthracite Coal Operators Do Not Grant Demand 140,000 Men Will Go Out September 8.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 29.—Within 10 days or by Sept. 8 a strike involving 140,000 miners, of which 40,000 are members of the mine-workers' organization, will be declared if the anthracite coal operators refuse to grant the demands of the United Mine-Workers, as embodied in the reports of the scale and resolutions committee as presented and adopted at yesterday's convention.

The committee yesterday applied to the national board, with headquarters at Indianapolis, to order a strike if no amicable agreement regarding wages, the powder question and other grievances is reached.

The report of the scale committee is as follows:

"We demand obolition of the company store system, a reduction in the price of powder to $1.50 per keg; abolition of the company dictation as to who shall be our doctors; abolition of the sliding scale now in practice in the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions; compliance with the semi-monthly pay law, that all employes be paid in cash; abolition of the erroneous system of having 3360 pounds to the ton, and that 2400 pounds constitute a ton; that an advance of 30 per cent be paid to all classes of men now receiving less than $1.50 per day; that all classes of day laborers now receiving $1.50 and not exceeding $1.75 shall receive 15 per cent over present wages; that all day labor now receiving more than $1.75 shall be advanced 10 per cent; that no miner shall have at any time more than one breast, gang or other class of work, and shall only get his legal share of cars."

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 29.—It can be definitely announced that the Scranton board of trade will hold a special meeting, either tomorrow night or the beginning of next week, for the purpose of taking some action to prevent if possible the threatened strike of the anthracite coal miners. It is intimated by one high in the confidence of the leading members of the organization that a conference between the operators and miners in this part of the anthracite field, arranged through the influence of some of the prominent members of the board, is a possibility.

WILL BEGIN SYMPATHY STRIKE.

Bituminous Coal Miners Prepared to Help Anthracite Brothers.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 29.—That a strike of the anthracite miners may have a disastrous effect on the output of coal from the bituminous fields is indicated in advices that come from an official source, and which are to the effect that the state representatives of the United Mine-Workers' Union have been in conference with the national officers, and that a decision has been reached to strike in every bituminous field where the operators make an effort to send coal into anthracite fields in case of trouble.

The United Mine-Workers' Union has several hundred thousand dollars that will be spent in this way. After that is gone the states will be called upon.

STREET THAT WAS NEVER USED.

Kirkwood Will Have an Immediate Improvement.

Railroad street in Kirkwood is 44 years old, but a wagon has never been drawn over it.

It was laid out to run parallel with the railroad right through the center of the town, but the fact that the path is a gully 10 feet deep has prevented its use.

This fall the street is to be filled, graded and opened for travel. The fences which now enclose it at either end and prevent people from falling into it will be taken away.

The occasion for grading the street is the erection of a new store building on an adjoining lot on Webster avenue

LOOKING FOR POISON

CHEMISTS ANALYZE STOMACH OF W. T. CARMACK.

MRS. CARMACK BOUGHT POISON.

She Also Told Several That She Would Get Rid of Carmack to Marry Dick Walker.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 29.—Five of the leading physicians of Dallas and Kleburg are making an analysis of the contents of W. T. Carmack's stomach to determine the existence or non-existence of poison therein.

Some damaging testimony has been developed against Mrs. Carmack and Richard Walker, who have been under arrest since last Sunday, charged with murdering Carmack.

R. A. Sullivan testifies that about eight or ten days ago he saw Mrs. Carmack ride up to Woody's drug store and call for a nickel's worth of strychnine and a bottle of morphine, and that he saw James Woody carry the drugs to her.

Mrs. Ann Cole testified that she was at Carmack's about two weeks ago and heard Mrs. Carmack say that she intended to marry Dick Walker if she could get rid of Carmack; that Mrs. Carmack said they were going to leave the country together and get married as soon as she could get a divorce; that she was going to put Carmack out of the way if she could, and that she was going to get strychnine if she could; that it would require about six or eight grains and that Walker was going to help her get rid of Carmack as soon as they could.

The testimony of these two witnesses produced a sensation. The affidavits on which Mrs. Carmack and Richard Walker were arrested were sworn out by W. W. Woody, who is interested in the drugstore where R. A. Sullivan swore she saw Mrs. Carmack purchase strychnine and morphine.

HURT BY FALL FROM A WAGON

An Eight-Year-Old Boy's Left Arm Badly Crushed Beneath the Wheels.

CONSTABLE OUT OF A JOB.

Fight in Upper Alton Village Board Takes New Turn.

The fight of the members and the president of the village board of Upper Alton took another turn Wednesday morning, when the village constable waked up and found that he was out of a job.

Alderman Smart, one of the leaders of the four aldermen who are opposing President Penning, went to Edwardsville Tuesday, and secured from the Madison County court, an injunction restraining Constable Lowe from interfering with the workmen who have been employed to break the old locks from the jail, and replace them with new ones, and give the keys over to the new constable, Mr. Scovill.

The locks were broken from the doors Tuesday night, and the new ones placed, and when Constable Lowe came down this morning he found himself locked out. The keys of the new locks have been turned over to Constable Scoville, the choice of the four aldermen, who are arrayed against the president of the board.

HURT IN A BARROOM FIGHT.

John Brennan Seriously Injured by Three Companions.

John Brennan is in a critical condition at his home, 2514 Goode avenue, from wounds on the head received in a barroom brawl in George Wagner's saloon in the rear of 2509 Goode avenue.

In the fight were engaged, according to the police report, Ike Kelly, 2415 Goode avenue, Thomas Aubuchon, 2520 Goode avenue and Julian Teschmacher, all young men. The three are locked up at the Deer and Easton station pending the result of Brennan's wounds.

Dr. Moore, 4132 Easton avenue, examined Brennan's injuries and said they were of a serious nature. It is not known now the wounds on the head were made.

SORES AND ULCERS.

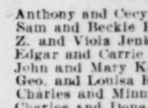

Sores and Ulcers never become chronic unless the blood is in poor condition—is sluggish, weak and unable to throw off the poisons that accumulate in it. The system must be relieved of the unhealthy matter through the sore, and great danger to life would follow should it heal before the blood has been made pure and healthy and all impurities eliminated from the system. S.S.S. begins the cure by first cleansing and invigorating the blood, building up the general health and removing from the system all morbid, effete matter. A CONSTANT DRAIN UPON THE SYSTEM. When this has been accomplished the discharge gradually ceases, and the sore or ulcer heals. It is the tendency of these old indolent sores to grow worse and worse, and eventually to destroy the bones. Local applications, while soothing and to some extent alleviate pain, cannot reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does, and no matter how apparently hopeless your condition, even though your constitution has broken down, it will bring relief when nothing else can. It supplies the rich, pure blood necessary to heal the sore and nourish the debilitated, diseased body.

Mr. J. B. Talbert, Lock Box 245, Winona, Miss., says: "Six years ago my leg from the knee to the foot was one solid sore. Several physicians treated me and I made two trips to Hot Springs, but found no relief. I was induced to try S.S.S., and it made a complete cure. I have been a perfectly well man ever since."

SSS is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known—contains no poisonous minerals to ruin the digestion and add to, rather than relieve your sufferings. If your flesh does not heal readily when scratched, bruised or cut, your blood is in bad condition, and any ordinary sore is apt to become chronic.

ACUTE PHASE OF CHINA PROBLEM

Two Special Cabinet Meetings at Washington.

GERMANY OUT OF HARMONY.

FOUR POWERS WANT MORE TERRITORY.

Striking Features of the Situation Which May Yet Set the Great Nations at War.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The special cabinet meeting today was devoted entirely to a discussion of the diplomatic phases of the situation in China. No definite conclusion was reached on any point. No statement as to any of the questions discussed was made public. There will be another cabinet meeting this afternoon.

The special cabinet meeting this morning following a midnight conference last night, and several similar conferences with Secretary Root and Mr. Adee within the last two days, emphasizes the amount of attention the President is devoting to China.

It is understood that the government is better advised than it was yesterday as to certain important elements of the Pekin muddle.

Baron Speck Von Sternburg, the German charge, saw Acting Secretary Adee this morning, and it is understood his purpose was to talk over the question of Li Hung Chang's credentials. One effect of Germany's refusal to accept Li as plenipotentiary will be to delay peace negotiations at least until Field Marshal Waldersee's arrival in China, several weeks hence.

THE PERPLEXING PROBLEMS.

Clash May Come in Creating a New Government as Powers Are Out of Concert.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The Chinese situation today is perplexing. Its striking features are:

1. Without a formal declaration on the part of China or any outside power, China is really at war with the rest of the world.

2. The Chinese capital is held by the allies, and the rulers of the country have fled to another city, 240 miles distant.

3. The allies are unable to communicate with the Chinese government and are now discussing the advisability of setting up a new government at Pekin with which to negotiate for indemnity in settlement of the injuries inflicted on their subjects and citizens.

4. Li Hung Chang, who pretends to be empowered with authority to represent his government in peace negotiations, is recognized as such by the United States and Russia, but Germany and Italy decline to give him recognition and their attitude is likely to be followed by other powers. Germany's position alone is sufficient to break the concert of the powers and seems to necessitate the setting up of a new government at Pekin with which the powers can treat Great Britain has not signified her attitude towards Li.

5. Russia desires the annexation of Manchuria; Japan wants Corea; Germany is reaching out for an extension of territory in Shan Tung, while England seeks to control the valley at the mouth of the Yangtse river.

6. While it was agreed among the allies that the march of their armies should cease with the rescue of the legations at Pekin, it is reported that Russia and Japan are moving bodies of troops northward.

7. It was announced at the inception of the movement at Washington that the United States forces would be withdrawn from Pekin as soon as the Americans were rescued, but it is now reported that Gen. Chaffee is preparing to winter his troops in China.

8. The greatest problem now presented is that of setting up a new Chinese government at Pekin. On this question it is not probable that the powers can act in harmony, as each will strive to impose a government that will give it an advantage in the adjustment of the questions to be settled.

On the question of final settlement with China a Berlin semi-official paper says:

"A control of China will be inaugurated such as exists financially in Turkey, Greece and Egypt, but more far-reaching. It says:

"China must pay war indemnity to the powers. This will necessitate a loan, guaranteed by them; and this justifies the powers in assuming control of the financial administration of China.

"The powers must relieve China of the corrupt Mandarin regime. Owing to the recognized efficiency of Germany's administrative system, Germany should have the leading role in China's future administration."

An extended conference regarding the diplomatic features of the Chinese situation took place at the White House last night. Acting Secretary Adee of the state department arrived at the executive mansion at 9:30 o'clock and soon afterward Secretary Root came, the two officials remaining with the President until after midnight.

They were asked for some statement as they were leaving the White House, but both were uncommunicative.

That the situation is serious is evident from the fact that President McKinley deemed it unwise to leave Washington to review the G. A. R. at Chicago.

PREPARING TO STAY IN CHINA

TAKU, Aug. 27.—Officers who have arrived here from Pekin report that Gen. Chaffee, commanding the American forces in China, is making all the necessary preparations to maintain 15,000 men through the winter.

Fifteen of the American wounded, including the marines wounded during the siege of the legations, have arrived here by boat from Pekin.

Capt. Myers of the United States Marine corps is suffering from typhoid fever and can not be moved.

A large batch of refugees are due here tomorrow.

The American signal corps, co-operating with that of the British, has completed the telegraph line from Pekin to Taku.

Capt. John T. Myers was assigned to command the legation defenders at Pekin. He was born in Germany and was appointed from the State of Georgia, entering the marine corps in 1887. He is the reputed author of the famous satirical poem, "Hoch der Kaiser," which involved Capt. Coghlan in much difficulty. He was attached to the flagship Baltimore and was afterward assigned to do duty with the marines on board the battleship Oregon.

BUILDING BONFIRES FOR POLITICAL REASONS ON CALHOUN HILLS

Illinois County Without Railroads or Negroes Singularly Honored by Both Political Parties This Week.

The little Illinois county of Calhoun, which is distinct above all other counties in the state for the reason that it has neither negroes nor railroads, is being singularly blessed in politics this year.

Calhoun is associated with Madison and Jersey counties in the Forty-seventh Senatorial district, and with Jersey, Macoupin, Greene, Pike, Scott and Morgan counties in the Sixteenth congressional district.

The senatorial district is Republican, or was at the last two elections, and Calhoun has naturally expected little there because of its steadfast Democracy. The county never went anything but Democratic, giving Bryan 1175 votes in 1896 against 795 for McKinley.

So it occasioned some surprise Tuesday when the Republican senatorial convention at Alton gave George L. Aderton of Calhoun one of the two places on the legislative ticket, to the exclusion of Paul M. Hamilton, the candidate from the larger and more influential county of Jersey.

Nor is this the sum of Calhoun's political good fortune this year. Four weeks ago the Democrats of the Sixteenth congressional district, after more than two thousand ineffectual ballots upon candidates from each of the seven counties in the district, turned to Calhoun, the smallest county in the district and geographically the most isolated, and gave the nomination to Thomas Jefferson Selby, who had for twelve years been Calhoun's candidate before the district convention.

Naturally the people of Calhoun are dashed with these victories, and there are bonfires on the high hilltops of the kingdom and politics in the cross-roads stores.

BACK ON THE BENCH

JUDGE WISLIZENUS RETURNED FROM A VACATION.

"PULL" AGAIN GOES MERRILY.

Dismissals Without Trial Once More a Feature of the Dayton Police Court.

After a sojourn of 20 days in the northern lake regions Judge Adolph Wislizenus resumed control of the legal machinery of the Dayton Street Police Court Wednesday morning.

The rule established by Acting Judge Robertson that no cases be nolle prossed without the consent of the arresting officer or prosecuting witness died at the inception of the court session.

Six prisoners charged with various offenses were not summoned for trial. The "pull" was exercised in their behalf, and they were granted their liberty.

The judicial mill was griding when Deputy Marshal Bochmer approached the city attorney and requested that a "holle pros" be entered in Nos. 20 and 21. The marshal was accommodated.

The defendants were William Young, alias "Black Spot Five," and Doug as Givens, alleged to be confidence men of considerable reputation.

They were charged with disturbance of the peace. Policemen Skelley and Lardner arrested them at Thirteenth and Morgan streets. Young, it was alleged, drew a knife and stabbed Givens in the neck, inflicting a severe wound.

They were taken to the Carr Street Station, when Chief of Detectives Desmond was notified of their arrest.

Asked if he desired to prosecute the prisoners Chief Desmond replied: "No, let them go to trial in the Second District Police Court."

Detective Badger was sent to the station to interview them.

Mr. Desmond will be surprised, perhaps, to learn the disposition made of the cases.

Detective Badger, together with Policemen Skelley and Lardner, were on hand Wednesday to prosecute. But Mr. Boehmer spoke first and they were sorely disappointed.

"I do not understand," said Policeman Skelley to the Post-Dispatch, "why the men were turned loose. I have waited an hour expecting the cases to be called."

It was stated to the Post-Dispatch that Detective Badger had practically agreed to have the men go free if one of them would pay costs.

Mr. Badger when asked about this said: "I was not responsible for having the cases nolle prossed. The men, I understand, did not want to prosecute each other; they had made up, so I suppose it was useless to prosecute them."

Seven negroes and a white boy were arrested at 1820 Linden street. They were charged with shooting craps.

George Robinson, colored, pleaded guilty and was fined $5. The others entered a plea of not guilty, and though the evidence in all of the cases was practically the same, the six negroes were discharged and the white boy fined $5.

FILTH, RUIN, DEATH DAY OF BUSINESS

HORRORS WITNESSED ON THE OCCUPATION OF TIEN TSIN.

DEAD BODIES ON ALL SIDES.

Streets and Canals Filled With Slain Chinese Who Had Fought With Desperation.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

TIEN TSIN, China, July 17.—The ancient stone walls of the Chinese city of Tien Tsin, surrounded on the days of its occupation by the allied troops, a square mile of such filth, ruin and death, such turmoil and pillage as history could hardly duplicate. Under normal conditions the place was no better than a huge cesspool, festering with the accumulated rubbish and slops from a population of nearly a million, packed into a labyrinth of hovels, around the palaces of viceroys and petty taotais who absorbed their wealth and gave them not even sewers in return. Now it is the incarnation of all the suffering, horrors and waste of war.

The European soldiers, when they fought their way up to the walls, saw floating in the canals and ditches outside dozens of Chinese slain by their own people because they refused to fight. The bodies were headless and their hands were tied behind their backs. The heads were discovered afterward. Rows of them decorated the outer walls, hung by their pigtails.

Five flags were flying from the high pagodas on the city walls when the newspaper correspondents entered, the French, Japanese, American, Russian and British.

"It was hard enough to get those flags up there," remarked a foreign officer, "but the real trouble will be to get them down."

The suburbs of the city presented a foretaste of what was inside. Shells had torn the huts and plowed the ground, while the dead men scattered about among dead horses, pigs and dogs, testified how thoroughly the bullets had swept the region the day before.

Their Dead Were Seen Everywhere.

The sights inside compelled respect for the fighting qualities of the Chinese. Their dead were everywhere. Dressed in the coarse blue coolie blouse and trousers, decorated with characters guaranteed to render them invulnerable to foreign bullets, they were strewn all along the top of the wall wherever they had fallen. Walking a quarter of a mile along the embankment the bodies averaged one in 10 feet, and the wall was nearly 10 miles long.

Throughout the city the demolished houses and hundreds of killed gave evidence of how vastly more effective had been the foreign shell fire within the walls of the city than the Chinese bombardment of the foreign settlement, which, lasting for a month, had killed only a dozen people. The viceroy had constructed in the palace yard two comfortable and impenetrable bombproofs, excavations guarded by sandbags, but the common people were less fortunate. Many women and children were lying dead in the streets, torn terribly by shrapnel. The living populace were utterly indifferent to their dead. They would not take the trouble to drag them out of the streets or even cover them with matting, as a foreign soldier did afterwards, but trampled them under foot without bothering to turn aside. Before the shooting in the streets was finished the thousands of Chinese had emerged from their burrows, carrying white flags or the flags of foreign nations, principally the Japanese.

Like an Ant Hill Kicked Open.

Most remarkable of all the sights was the looting of the city. The middle of the place was like an ant hill kicked open. The Chinese swarmed everywhere, thousands and thousands of them, dashing into the flames of burning shops, getting under falling walls and into choking clouds of smoke. Most of them were half naked, grimy with smoke and sometimes dripping with blood. They preyed upon one another. A Chinese appearing with a prize must fight his way, other Chinese sprang on him and clutched his plunder. They rolled among the corpses, pulling and tearing, while children, being trampled down, cried for help and the mob poured right along over them.

The palaces, the mint, the pawn shops, the stores of silks, furs and jewelry were the first objects of attack. Near the middle of the city was the most prosperous pawn shop, an institution that had probably existed for centuries. Wealthy Chinese were accustomed to store their winter clothing for safekeeping. When the doors were battered down the mob flowed like a tidal wave. There were British officers, naval and military soldiers and sailors, with a good sprinkling of Sikhs, but principally Chinese.

In a twinkling all was pandemonium. The Chinese knew where the best treasure was to be found and the soldiers followed them. Two forces collided in the gateway, a rushline of Chinese struggling to enter and another line fighting to get out with armfuls of loot, while an occasional soldier went through the crowd like one of the Broadway squad. Tien Tsin experienced a swooping redistribution of wealth, but on the old scheme of prizes to the strongest.

The looting flourished for three days. On the first day it was entirely unrestrained. Then the coolie accumulated stacks of goods by simply standing at the city gates and holding up the best laden Chinese from the endless procession that flowed out. Packhorses, carts, rickshaws, coolies loaded with trunks and sacks and piled with loose silks, furs and bronzes, crowded all the roads leading down to the settlement. English officers rode with their horses concealed under drygoods and soldiers slung bundles on their bayonets.

Commanders Restrain Soldiers.

On the second day a conference of commanding officers decided to adopt repressive measures. The commanders, excepting the French, empowered the British, who were doing provost duty, to seize all loot. This order the British attempted to execute by holding up the looters as they entered the foreign towns. They took all the bundles and reported the names of claimants for future inquiry. Naturally this stop provoked grumbling, particularly among the soldiers of other nationalities. Capt. Bailey, the provost marshal, a big-bodied, big-voiced Englishman, explained that the prohibition was designed to restrain civilians from getting the spoils which should go to the men who did the fighting. The official statement is that all seized loot will be sold, the proceeds to be divided among the soldiers as prize money, but soldiers, wise through former campaigns, comment skeptically.

The Japanese, so far as casual observation showed, did the least looting, because of the admirable discipline under which their soldiers are held. The Americans had all to themselves one large arsenal, which they occupied on entering the city. It contained not only cannon, but a fine stock of small arms, swords of curious and rich pattern, rifles of various makes, with stands of the long two-man guns, which are simply giant rifles, throwing a ball which, from the report and whistle, the soldiers in the fight judged to be one-pounders.

Munitions of war were not the only contents of the arsenal. High officers had lived there and in flight had left stacks of clothing and other articles of great value. All this stuff is to be sold or shipped to Washington as spoils of war.

On the third day of the occupation a more effective method was followed by compelling looters to give up their loads at the city gate. Even this measure did not prevent the loss of much gold and silver. Civilians from the concession made a general raid on the salt commissioner's treasure and many succeeded in smuggling loads of silver bars through to the settlement. The Americans succeeded in securing nearly a million taels worth of the precious metal, which is piled up in the marine barracks. Today the walled city looks as though a tornado had stricken it. Enough valuable property has been destroyed to stock a big city and enough has been seized to give every soldier a considerable sum if the distribution is honestly administered.

FORMAL OPENING OF G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

STRENGTH OF THE ORDER.

Reports of Officers Showing Membership, Deaths in Past Year and Financial Condition.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—In Studebaker Hall this morning the veterans of the G. A. R., who yesterday marched in parade, turned their attention to matters of business. The annual meeting was formally called to order at 10:30 o'clock by Commander-in-chief Shaw.

Gen. Shaw announced that the meeting would be opened with prayer by Chaplain Grania. The audience rose and remained standing during the prayer.

Mayor Harrison then came to the front of the rostrum to formally welcome the soldiers to Chicago. His address was happily received.

Commander-in-chief Shaw of the grand army replied to Mayor Harrison for the members of his organization, expressing the thanks of the army for the hospitality shown them.

As Gen. Shaw resumed his seat J. M. Longenecker, commander of the department of Illinois, rose to greet the veterans in behalf of the soldiers of Illinois. He made a happy little speech which evoked much applause.

Gen. Louis Wagner, who responded for the members of the army, was no less felicituous in his reply, expressing the gratitude of his comrades to the men of Illinois. This closed the meeting of the morning, as immediately after the conclusion of Gen. Wagner's address he, Commander Longenecker, Mayor Harrison and Gen. Shaw, held an informal reception lasting half an hour.

The convention reassembled at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and this time there were no preliminaries. The action was opened at once by Gen. Shaw, who read his annual report.

Following the address of Gen. Shaw came a long list of reports submitted by the minor officials and the various committees of the organization. The reports submitted were those of the executive committee, council of administration, Adjutant-General Stewart, Quartermaster-General Atkinson, Surgeon-General Baker, Chaplain-in-Chief Grimm, Judge Advocate-General Torrence, Senior Vice-Commander-in-Chief Robbins, Junior Vice-Commander-in-Chief Minton, Custodian Holcomb, Inspector-General Cummins, committee on legislation of veterans in public service and of the committee on pension legislation.

The report of Adjutant-General Thomas J. Stewart shows the total membership of the Grand Army of the Republic in good standing June 30, 1899, was 6905 posts, with a membership of 287,981, on Dec. 31, 1899, 7052 posts, with a membership of 287,968; on June 30, 1900, 6758 posts, with a membership of 276,662. The gains and losses for the 12 months ending June 30, 1900, are as follows:

Members in good standing June 30, 1900		287,981
Gains by muster in	8,901
Gains by transfer	4,123
Gains by reinstatement	11,937
Gains from delinquent reports	6,515	31,476
Aggregate		319,457
Loss by death	7,780
Loss by honorable discharge	983
Loss by transfer	3,568
Loss by suspension	18,189
Loss by dishonorable discharge	174
Loss by delinquent reports	10,956
Loss by surrender of charter	745	42,705
Members in good standing June 30, 1900		276,662
Members remaining suspended June 30, 1900		29,474
Total borne on rolls		308,136

In the report of Surgeon-General William H. Baker, the number of deaths during the year, ending Dec. 31, 1899, were 7857, divided as follows: Number who presumably died of wounds received in the service, 363; number who presumably died of disease contracted in the service, 2296; number who presumably died from other causes, 5198. The total pension value of medical service and supplies furnished during the year was estimated at $36,199.

The number of deserving sick or maimed not receiving pensions was 3057; the number of inmates in soldiers' homes, supported by the government and the states in which they are located was 15,172. The number of ex-soldiers and sailors in almshouses was 70.

The annual report of Judge Advocate General Ell Torrance covers seven cases, with opinions on each. The more important opinions are as follows:

Every persons who served in the Confederate army, either voluntarily or involuntarily and all those who in any manner aided the Confederate government either in a civil or military capacity, are ineligible to membership in the Grand Army of the Republic. It is immaterial how short the term of service or unimportant the aid rendered—the disqualification is complete.

Honors lost by dishonorable discharge are not restored by remission of the sentence and reinstatement to membership in the Grand Army of the Republic.

A post that passes a resolution indorsing the candidacy of one of its members for Congress as well as the officers of the post who promulgate such resolution are subject to discipline for a violation of article xii, chapter 5, of the rules and regulations.

A majority vote is sufficient to reinstate a comrade in a post other than that from which he has been dropped.

PROMISES NOT KEPT.

Grievances of Veterans Voiced in a Committee Report.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—At the G. A. R. encampment the committee on legislation for veterans in public service regretfully but necessarily reported "progress."

As the result of war two obligations were incurred. One was financial. It requested money, principal and interest, to liquidate this. And the promise to pay was well kept. The other was sacrifice, to be canceled by gratitude. Not in eloquent words, but acts. To care for him who had borne the battle, the widows and orphans of the fallen and to suitably recognize those who survived. How? Pensions to those who deserved them; a reasonable preference in the public service to those who were worthy and sought needed employment. This is justice. In incurring this obligation of sacrifice, a national debt was created. None more sacred. In settling it political considerations have no rightful share. Such sacrifice was above all politics. Gratitude is ever a paramount issue.

Looking over the debates of the congresses there can be found many kind words spoken for the soldier and sailor, but absolutely nothing in the way of statutory law insuring to those who enter the military or naval service in times of war—serving until the end of their terms of enlistment or the close of hostilities, being honorably discharged—a reasonable preference in the public service, in times of peace. Pensions, yes. Will any American urge that any meager pittance as a pension doled out compensates loss of manhood? The manhood that was ready to sacrifice life itself, voluntarily, in battle, in order that the republic might survive? And the inherent desire to earn bread by labor. Perish the thought. We will not believe it.

That the war for union and what it cost in sacrifice may not be forgotten nor its survivors be belittled—particularly by the politicians—in this day and generation, is the supreme duty, with us, in this hour.

That volunteer service in the armies and navy of the United States in times of war deserves not alone emulation and praise, but to those who survive and are honorably discharged, being worthy and capable, preferment for appointment, promotion and retention in the public service in times of peace, is a principle to which we ought to stand committed now and forever.

OLD VETERANS ON WHEELS.

Bicycle Race Won by an Indianian 51 Years Old.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—One of the features of the encampment which attracted much attention was the veterans' bike road race, in which 29 old soldiers started. The course was from Halstead street straight west to Garfield Park and once around the park, a total distance of five miles.

The winner was J. Patterson, 61 years of age, of Greenfield, Ind. Patterson covered the distance in 19:33, taking the time prize also.

M. Hamerly, 65 years of age, finished second in 21:58. M. P. Shook of Chicago, while riding in the race, collided with another rider and was thrown, being badly but not dangerously bruised.

Of the 29 starters in the race 26 finished.

LAST OF STREET-CAR MULES

St. Louis County Railway Company Has Erected Poles and Stretched Wires Along St. Charles Road.

The St. Louis County Street Railway Co., which operates the only mule cars in the vicinity of St. Louis, near Wellston, has erected poles and stretched wires along the St. Charles rock road and Hunt avenue, with the intention adopting electricity as a motive power.

The poles were erected between midnight and morning, and as there have been no belligerent acts committed as a result, it is supposed this marks the end of a long three-cornered fight wherein two railroad companies and the citizens of Wellston and Eden have been divided, each against the other two.

The citizens obtained a temporary injunction restraining the St. Louis County company from erecting the poles, from the late Judge Hirzel, and later Judge Booth made an order requiring the representatives of the citizens to furnish a bond of $3500 within 30 days or the injunction would be dissolved.

The 30-day limit expired last week, and as there has been no bond furnished, Mr. Baumhoff, manager of the transit company, which has bought the road, ordered his men to proceed to arrange for electric power.

PRAYING FOR M'KINLEY'S DEFEAT

W. C. T. U. Women Start Endless Chain of Supplications for Defeat of the Man Who Permitted Canteen.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 29.—A crusade of anti-McKinley prayer is about to be started by Mrs. F. T. McWhirter, president, and Mrs. E. Balch, secretary of the Indiana W. C. T. U.

The plan of the campaign is unique in American politics. They have had printed countless thousands of what they call "presidential prayer chain pledges." The plan is to inaugurate an endless chain of prayers by having the woman addressed make prayers herself and send the pledge to two of her women friends, each of whom will start to pray and will send similar letters to two of her friends.

The praying is to continue until election day. If the plan succeeds half the women in the United States will be praying for McKinley's defeat by election time.

The prayer censures McKinley for permitting the canteen at army posts and asks for a president who will keep wine off the White House table, who will be a total abstainer himself and who will do what he can to overthrow the liquor traffic.

MR. WENDELL STILL MISSING

Police Theory Unsubstantiated, and the Man's Family Have Become Apprehensive.

Theodore C. Wendell of 1831 Kennett place, whose wife reported him missing since Saturday morning, is still mysteriously absent.

Mr. Wendell was a salesman for the Plant Seed Co. at 816 North Fourth street and was well known about town. He left home Saturday morning, but did not go to work. Mrs. Wendell says he has never absented himself from home before without explanation.

He is 50 years old and has dark hair and moustache tinged with gray. He is of medium height and build. The right side of his face showed several severe scratches caused by a fall a few days before he disappeared. He wore a brown fedora hat and a brown check suit.

Saturday afternoon he was seen at Tony Faust's by friends, but since then the police have been unable to trace him.

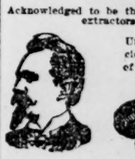

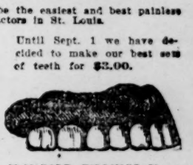

The police told the Post-Dispatch that Mr. Wendell had been drinking and that they believed he would return home in a few days, but his continued absence seems to weaken this theory.

Central Property Sold.

A transaction was completed Tuesday in real estate circles by William Baggot whereby Jacob Stocky acquired the property, 219 and 221 Chestnut street, for $10,000. The lot is 40x128, with an L on the rear facing an alley. It has a five-story iron-front building, with a four-story brick building in the rear. They were formerly occupied by the Buxton & Skinner Stationery Co., who paid $225 a month rent. The grantor was Mrs. Clair G. Addison.

WAS HIS OWN LAWYER

FRANK PEYTON CROSS-EXAMINED THE WITNESSES.

BUT HE WAS CONVICTED.

Received a Sentence of Three Months in the Workhouse on One of the Charges.

Frank Peyton, the alleged burglar, was sentenced to the Workhouse for three months on one of the four cases against him, and bound over to the grandjury in the sum of $800 on the others by Judge Clark in the Court of Criminal Correction Wednesday.

Peyton acted as his own attorney, and cross-questioned the witnesses like an old lawyer.

When all of the evidence was in, Judge Clark asked Peyton if he had anything to say. Peyton said:

"I don't see where any case of larceny or burglary has been proven against me. If there is anything against me it is having possession of stolen property."

Peyton was charged with burlarizing the residence of Dr. J. E. Chambers, 113 North Eighth street; Thomas H. Larkin, 3577 Laclede avenue, and Mrs. Mervina Day, 2322 Locust street. A charge of petit larceny was made in the case of Lillian Hull, with whose mother Peyton roomed, and from whom he was charged with stealing a purse containing $5. On this charge Judge Clark sentenced Peyton to the Workhouse.

Among the things taken from Dr. Chambers' office was a peculiarly made revolver. Peyton crossquestioned the doctor for some time about the weapon, and wanted to know how he could identify it as his property.

Mrs. Day said she met a man in her house at 4:30 o'clock. In the morning she missed the things.

"Was it me?" asked Peyton.

"No," replied the witness.

Mrs. Mull, with whom Peyton roomed, was asked by the prosecuting attorney if she had ever seen Peyton bring anything into her house. Peyton jumped to his feet at once and said:

"I object to the question, your hoonr. Any man is liable to carry things into the house where he lives. This is irrelevant. I don't deny having taken things into the house."

Judge Clark overruled the objection.

HAD DESPERATE ENCOUNTER

Mike Dwyer and "Monkey" Keefe Badly Battered Each Other Until the Police Interfered.

Mike Dwyer, a brother of "Bullet" Dwyer, who was shot to death by William Condon in front of James Cronin's saloon, Twelfth and Walnut streets, had a desperate encounter with "Monkey" Keefe early Wednesday morning in Arthur Henry's saloon, 27 South Eighth street.

Dwyer struck Keefe on the head with two beer glasses. Officer Kohrs ran between the men and seperated them. In attempting to subdue Dwyer the officer was compelled to use his club. Dwyer's face was bruised by the baton and one of his fingers broken.

Keefe took advantage of the struggle between Dwyer and the officer and ran from the place with blood flowing from his head. He has not yet been found by the police. Dwyer was locked up at the Four Courts holdover. He refuses to say what caused the trouble and the bartender in the saloon professes to be ignorant of the trouble.

WATER DEPARTMENT'S "POLICY."

A curious example of the helplessness of a paralytic city government in its relation with a franchised monopoly is afforded in the row between the water department and the St. Louis Transit Company.

The company's workmen in relaying tracks carelessly break the casings surrounding the valves of the water pipes.

"Our policy in most of these cases," says Chief Engineer Adkins of the Water Department, "will be to let the company go ahead as it has been doing until its tracks are laid. Then we will tear up the tracks and fix up our pipes as they were in the first place and charge the cost to the transit company."

Monday afternoon, however, the department "retaliated." Water was cut off from one of the power houses. This resulted in a blockade lasting two hours.

This is the acme of sanity and common sense. Let the company go ahead destroying public property. When it is over tear up the tracks and interrupt travel, or, retaliate and let people walk until the parties to the fool quarrel settle their differences.

What a "policy!" Boys in the grammar school grades would wonder at it.

Flagg, the Republican nominee in the Ninth District, is not the star-spangled banner, and he has Champ Clark to beat.

CHAMPIONS SHOULD BE READY.

Fighter Fitzsimmons has a good ground of complaint against Champion Fighter Jeffries. Fitzsimmons was ready to meet the champion, but the champion pleaded that he was as a bow unstrung, or even as Ethelred the Unready, of historic fame. He was not exactly "off his feed," but his condition was such that his championship would not have been secure if he had given Fitzsimmons an opportunity of trying issues with him.

Is not this a wrong attitude for a champion? Is he not the king of the fighters, and with the exception of the period devoted to sleep, should he not be ready at all times to assert his kingship?

The excuse of unreadiness was not allowed to Hercules, Goliath of Gath, Samson, or any of the ancient champion fighters. If caught out of training they had to take the consequences.

Possibly the speeches of Congressman Boreing are not much more wearisome than those of some other statesmen.

REPRESENTATION OF CITIES

In the new apportionment based upon the census of 1890 cities will gain representation in Congress to a greater relative degree than the country districts.

Considering the low plane of politics in most American cities this is a misfortune. Nominations are dictated by the local machines, and independent thinking men are not loved by the boss of the machine. Men in cities who are the best qualified for public service often adorn private station, while those who have a natural call to private life are granted political preferment, and disfigure the public service.

The machine is not so strong in the country. Hence, talent is oftener rewarded.

The men who make a mark in Congress come for the most part from the country. In Ohio, McKinley, Garfield and Grosvenor; in Illinois, Hitt, Cannon and Morrison; in Missouri, Bland, De Armond and Benton—these and others of equal or greater capacity might never have got into public life had they been forced to make terms with the city bosses.

The moral of it—there is a moral even in municipal politics if you dig far enough for it—is to deprive the city boss of his power, which will be done when you cut off the source of the power; this takes us into the heart of the great political mystery, darkly indicated by the famous question—"Where did he get it?"

The wise voter will register now at the City Hall and not wait for precinct registration. Every man with the interest of the city and the country at heart should make certain of his vote. The purchasable voters will all be registered.

TAKING TO SOCKS.

It is reported that Chicago's fashionable girls are going to wear socks. The dictionary defines sock as a stocking with short leg. Men, as a rule, know what the sock is, but up to this time women have only known them in the darning basket.

It is also said that the new style of sock for women will have a top so made that no garter will be necessary. The sock will cling like a clam to its shell. There will be no fear of accident.

That may be true enough of Chicago, where ample feet and corresponding limbs are the rule. But would it be safe for St. Louis girls to wear these new fangled foot coverings? And how is the matter to be decided and by whom?

The St. Louisan should keep in mind the fact that he is a citizen of the fourth city and the fifth State of the Union. A great deal will be expected of the fourth city and the fifth State in 1903.

WHAT WOMEN ADMIRE.

A writer in a London magazine maintains that women admire in men, not wit or wisdom, or learning, but flesh and blood. "Cleverness and dullness," says this writer, "are qualities in which we all may be deceived, but a healthy animal admits of no doubt."

This is what is called "a bold generalization," like that which announces summer on the appearance of one swallow.

A woman admires a man because she sees embodied in him her notion—consciously or unconsciously held—of manhood and manliness. (Admire is the word, remember—not love.)

If a woman's notion of manhood and manliness is realized in the person of a "healthy animal," she admires him. This accounts for the extravagant admiration paid by his wife to a celebrated pugilist. But, if the idea requires to complete it, strength of will, energy of intelligence, dexterity of wit and readiness of speech—in short, all those qualities which, with good health, tend to socialize and humanize, she will pay regard to the man who posses them.

Society would be better ordered, perhaps, if admiration and love went hand in hand. But, in fact, they are rarely found together. Why this is so, is one of the hidden secrets which nature chooses not to reveal. Maybe it is because two admirable persons yoked together find it difficult to determine which is number one. And everybody knows that, until that question is settled, there can be no peace in matrimony.

The census assures St. Louis fourth place among the cities of the country. That is, quantitatively we are greater than Boston. Qualitatively—well, let the half-finished city hall, the tottering City Hospital, the crowded Insane Asylum and Poorhouse, the streets and last, but not least, the mayor, speak for quality. Cynically, we are still in the "category of quantity."

THOSE GOOD INTENTIONS AGAIN

A Washington dispatch to the local administration organ says: "The President's desire to maintain the territorial integrity of the Chinese Empire is confronted with increasing obstacles, and already there is discussion of a proposition to maintain an international supervision of China's finances."

If the President is true to American principles, or rather if he will go back to the American principles which he has abandoned, his "desire to maintain the territorial integrity of the Chinese Empire" will not go beyond the region of passive sentiment.

To take part actively in the maintenance of the integrity of that or any other nation, or to participate in its dismemberment, is to involve the government in "entangling alliances" against which Americans were solemnly warned by Washington and Jefferson.

The way to get out of the Chinese muddle is to get out. Once out it will not be hard to keep out. The obstacles referred to are not diplomatic. They are not found in St. Petersburg or Berlin. They are in Washington, where they are organized into syndicates which are trying to enlist the government in their private schemes of exploitation. If the President has the will these obstacles will not worry him.

We have half the world to bustle in. Ever since Monroe filed his everlasting caveat the American continent has been the special and exclusive care and trust of the United States. It is quite enough to satisfy the ambition and employ the energies of our people. To meddle in the affairs of the eastern hemisphere is to enter a labyrinth of unfamiliar politics and endanger all that the American people have held most dear.

The women living on Channing avenue, from School street to Thomas street, have turned out and thoroughly cleaned the alley back of their homes. It looks as if the other alleys will have to be cleaned by women volunteers, if at all. If all St. Louis women could vote we should have both clean streets and clean alleys.

It is said that Greater Boston would show a population of 1,500,000, while the census of Boston proper reports a population of only 560,892, placing her below St. Louis. It seems to be even a greater happiness to live near Boston than in the city itself.

While a number of great newspapers are calling for the withdrawal of our troops from China, Gen. Chaffee is preparing to winter there with 15,000 men. It is impossible to determine the policy of the Administration by its professions.

It is rather early to worry about the construction of Bryan's cabinet. Perhaps he will not put any Algers into it or appoint a Secretary of the Treasury who will give heed to letters from Standard Oil officials demanding favors.

John L. Sullivan is investigating spiritualism and getting messages through mediums. Perhaps the spirits he is now seeking will not throw him down so often as have the sort with which he has been more familiar.

Ex-Senator Edmunds opposes imperialism, but supports the imperialist candidate. The man who thrust his head into the lion's mouth upon receiving the brute's assurances of good will was not more illogical and pliable.

Senator Deboe of Kentucky is as ungrammatical as the Philadelphia platform. He writes: "The foul attacks made on leading Republicans has aroused the people."

Another of those appalling death lists, showing the mortality among our troops from tropical diseases, has reached the War Department.

St. Louis has all along beaten Boston in the matter of pretty girls.

Now listen while Boston brags that what she lacks in quantity she makes up in quality.

The wireless telegraph would perhaps have saved us the worry over the dateless cables from Pekin.

If Aguinaldo were to surrender and come to the great city of St. Louis to learn self-government, what would he think of our capacity for it when, with the enormous sum annually collected in taxes, he should see bad streets, crumbling public buildings, an empty treasury and a host of hungry placemen reaching for everything in sight?

The Shooting of Lieut. Cordua.

From the New York World.

Lieut. Cordua was induced by an agent of the British government to enter what Lord Roberts himself called a "clumsy conspiracy" that was got up by the government spies to tempt and test "pacified" Boers. He was condemned to death by a court-marital which laid down the principle that any officer who breaks his parole forfeits his life. He was shot on Friday morning.

This is not worthy of the British people. But it is worthy of a government that provoked and compelled the republics in South Africa to make war in order that it might have an excuse for destroying them.

Technically, Lieut. Cordua had forfeited his life. Morally, to shoot him was a crime against humanity. Politically, it was a blunder that will be most costly.

It wants to govern the country in its own interest without being found out.

PARIS STREET TREES.

Wide streets and handsome street trees help largely in the fame of beautiful Paris. But the success of the trees is due to intelligent oversight by the authorities. Even with this admirable protection, the average life of a Paris street tree is found to be but half that of those growing in the environs. Of varieties, the following have been found best suited to the conditions of Paris, preference being given in the order named: Horse-chestnut (which is much the best), plane, ailantus, locust, linden and paulownia.—Meehans' Monthly for August.

PARLOR MAGIC TO AMUSE THE LITTLE FOLKS

One of the simplest is the magical mirror. An ordinary mirror of any size or shape will do, which, with a piece of French chalk, pointed so that it can be used to write, and a silk handkerchief, are the requisites. Draw upon the mirror with the chalk any design or write any words you choose. With the handkerchief wipe the glass lightly until the glass is perfectly clear and no design or writing is to be seen. Having prepared all this before hand, show the glass to one of the party and tell him to breathe gently upon it, when he will see, say, the face of his future wife, or whatever will answer to the design drawn. The design will show very distinctly, and some very amusing things can be told in this way.

The Obedient Watch.

This is a very simple trick, but it causes much fun and astonishment. Have concealed in the palm of your left hand a small magnet, and, borrowing a watch, ask the owner if it is in good order. Of course, he will say "yes," for every man's watch is statehouse time. Place it to his ear and ask him if it is going. He will again say "yes," and probably think you are not quite right. Place it to the ear of the next person, and he will say "no," and so on from one person to another. To cause the watch to stop it is taken in the left hand where the magnet is concealed. Taken again in the right, it will jog on at its accustomed pace.

The Enchanted Handkerchief.

This handkerchief is used for causing the disappearance of such articles as a coin, a card, an egg, or a watch, though an egg had better be handled carefully. It consists of two handkerchiefs—colored ones are the best—of the same pattern, carefully stitched together all around the edges, and with a slit in one of them about four inches in length in the middle. The space between the handkerchiefs thus forms a pocket, the slit being the opening. In shaking the handkerchief—which no one will dream of being double, if the thing is managed cleverly—keep the side with the slit next to you. In placing any article in the center, it will fall inside, and upon shaking the handkerchief the article seems to have disappeared, and it can be made to appear again at pleasure.

Impromptu Artists.

Any number can take a hand in this, and it is more in the nature of a game than a trick. All that is necessary is that each one shall be provided with a sheet of white paper and a pencil. All must mark five dots in any arrangement that he pleases on the paper, and then pass it to the next player on his left. He then takes the dotted paper which has been handed him and tries to draw on it some human figure in such a position as to bring one of the five dots at the middle of the top of the forehead, one at the point of each foot, and one on each hand. A given time is allowed to make the picture, and, if desired, prizes can be given for the best and worst. The results are very laughable, and such a game could fittingly wind up a morning of magic and fun when the weather precludes outdoor sport and books become a weariness.

THE DAY'S LOVE STORY

THE STORY OF ROSEMARY.

"I THINK, on looking back, that I must have been quarreling with Rosemary, though that seems well nigh impossible.

"Aren't you sorry you can't be a musician?" she asked.

"I am sorry," I replied, for it had been the dream of my life, "but since my mother wishes me to take holy orders and follow in my father's steps I am content to do so."

"I think it is perfectly hateful to have to stifle one's inclinations and do things one doesn't want to do."

And then Charles Falconer came through the gate and crossed the lawn to where we were.

Five years passed ere she and I met again, and then—as she had prophesied—I was a curate in a London parish. During these years too, her father had died, and she resided in Brighton with a relative.

It was not often I took a holiday, but one afternoon a great pianist was giving a recital at St. James' Hall, and I went to hear him. When I had been seated some minutes a very beautiful woman passed me so closely that her dress brushed against me, and my heart gave a wild throb, for I recognized Rosemary.

Rosemary turned her head and our eyes met. I thought she seemed glad to see me, and remembered also, I waited for her when the recital was over, but could only get a few words, for her companion—the relative with whom she lived—was in a hurry to keep some appointment.

The following afternoon I called at the address she had given me, but saw little opportunity for conversation, the drawing room was so crowded.

As I entered Rosemary was talking to a tall man, a little apart, and I recognized Charles Falconer, or, to be exact, Sir Charles Falconer, for he had come into the baronetcy. I think he was not overpleased, but I read my welcome in Rosemary's face.

On returning to my rooms I found a messenger, who begged I would go to see a dying woman, and I lost no time in complying.

The end was near and I remained, giving what consolation I could. Her last words were a message, and as it was evident she wished me to deliver it I bent my ear to her lips.

"I forgive," she whispered, "tell him;" then in answer to my look of inquiry she spoke a name clearly: "Sir Charles Falconer."

I learned her story afterward from the broken-hearted sister who was present, or at least such of it as she knew, for they had been separated some years. There is no need to speak here of the pitiful life that was now in God's keeping; but I determined to see Falconer at once—for I learned also from this poor woman that he was to be married to Rosemary.

Sir Charles occupied a handsome suit of rooms in Sackville street.

As shortly as possible I spoke of the poor girl I had left, and he turned, I fancy, a trifle pale. As I finished he said, more gravely than I had anticipated, and I began to hope his heart was touched.

"A sad case, Damer, but a common one, and one that concerns me less than you appear to think. This woman, the sister, has made a good deal out of a friendship I once had for the girl."

But her last words?"

"You have, nevertheless, jumped at conclusions, Damer. The girl, according to your story, did not say I was the person for whom the forgiveness was intended."

"Most certainly she did."

"I think not. I take it that she mentioned my name as being the person best able to convey her message to the ear for which it was intended."

"I knew that he had, and he knew that I knew it."

"I have my own opinion, Falconer, and, holding it, am bound to exact a promise that you will give up all claim to Miss Ellicott."

"That's your game, is it, parson?" he replied with a laugh. "So to accomplish your object you invent some blackmailing lie? I have an appointment, so if you will consider our interview over I will ring for my cab."

He made a movement toward the bell, but I stepped before it.

"Suppose I refuse?"

"You shall not."

"Bah! I shall—and I do. Stand aside, man, or I may forget your cloth."

"I will not stand aside until I have your word."

He raised his arm to strike me and my fist shot out, catching him full between the eyes, so that he fell like a log at my feet.

At the end of the summer I was offered the curacy of a large parish in Manchester, which I accepted. I could not leave London without bidding Rosemary good-by, and I longed to see her again to hear her voice.

And so I went, and this time she was alone. I think we both felt ill at ease, as though an unspoken thought lay between us. As I bade her adieu I thought she turned pale, and the hand I held in mine trembled like an imprisoned bird. But I dared not speak of my love; I felt in honor bound to wait awhile. As I reached the door her voice stayed my steps and I turned quickly with rapidly beating pulses.

"Basil," she said softly, "Basil." In another moment I had taken her in my arms and was pouring into her ears the untold love of years.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Warns Young Women of the Peril of Picking Up Chance Acquaintances.

(Copyright, Press Publishing Co.)

"TWO Young Girls" ask:

"Is there any harm in a young lady permitting a gentleman whom she met at the seashore, and to whom she has not been formally introduced, to see her home? Kindly answer through the Post-Dispatch:

My dears, there are few graver follies committed by the thoughtless and heedless than forming the acquaintance of strangers in the way you describe.

Unfortunately, men are not labeled, informing the world at large, women in particular, of their calling.

The handsome, debonair, well-dressed, agreeable young man may be the daring thief who broke into the house on your block last year; or the highwayman who held up your next door neighbor only the month before, leaving him for dead on the pavement from a blow from a concealed, murderous pair of brass knuckles which he usually carries with him.

Or he may be an escaped madman who has just broken his way out of some insane asylum.

Such people have a peculiar mania for making the acquaintance of young girls wherever they come across them, and talk and behave so rationally that their real condition is not discovered until some terrible deed has been accomplished by them.

When will women learn to beware of strangers. I often wonder?

The woman who allows a stranger to approach and enter into conversation with her and accompany her home runs the risk of her life. I use the words advisedly. She runs the risk of her precious life, for many an instance has been cited in the daily press where just such gentlemanly appearing, well-dressed, picked-up acquaintances have murdered their foolish, too trusting woman companion for a ring she wore upon her finger or a $5 note which they espied in her purse.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

My dears, acquaintaces can be made only in one way to feel sure that they are what they represent themselves to be and what their general appearance indicates, and that is by the good old-fashioned introduction by some mutual friend who can vouch for the integrity of the young man.

When you step aside from this wise course you err.

The girl who will flirt with and talk to a stranger, honorable young men shun, if they are looking for a wife.

Remember that.

Be too honorable to pick up acquaintances, my dears.

Will Aid in Art Education.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If there is a valid reason why the art galleries of the Exposition should not be opened on Sundays in response to a popular and almost universal demand I have not yet heard it. Aside from the great general good to be done by giving the people a better place of Sunday entertainment than the beer gardens, there is the additional advantage of imparting to the working classes and to others of higher station, that which they stand much in need of—a more intimate knowledge and greater appreciation of art and pictures.

The people of St. Louis have very primitive notions concerning art, and those in any way associated with art. We need to be educated. Throw open the Exposition doors and help spread the light. F. FERN.

In Favor of Sunday Opening.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"Mrs. Amadens" in your letters from the people this evening says: Upon our escutcheon is printed "God with us." I would ask is God with us in our benevolent assimilation of the Filipinos, when nearly every Sunday we kill from one to 100? Is God with us in our China exploit? What right have we to go and force our species of Christianity down the throats of a people who followed the teachings of a man who preached a doctrine like unto the "Nazarine?" This doctrine was taught and preached to a people who believed in one God, and it was taught at a time when "Mrs. Amadeus'" ancestors went around clothed in skins of wild animals, when her ancestors saw a spirit or God in every wind or thunderclap; no river or mountain but had a god for a guardian.

I say open the Exposition on Sunday and let us see what will happen.

These people who adhere to the letter of the scripture and know nothing of its spirit remind me of the old Scotch dame who reproved a visitor to Scotland for whistling on the Sabbath. Then the guilty one, who was a preacher, reminded the old lady that Christ healed the sick on the Sabbath. She said: "I ken it weel, and we niver thocht the better of him for it, either."

Not Happy, but Hope Remains.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The only true happiness that earth can give is the hours that we spend with those we love best. I am not happy, although the earth once seemed so bright and beautiful, for the kind friends that I once loved are gone and everything seems dark and dreary. It is said that he who has a clear conscience should be happy, but that is a mistake, for I never willingly wronged anything that God ever created. But truth and honor are still my guiding stars, and we load my feet into the light beyond the dark waters. A CONSTANT READER.

SPORTS OF THE DAY.

KINLOCH RACE TRACK

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR THE OPENING SATURDAY.

HORSES COMING FROM CHICAGO

Col. Bob Pate Says the Track Will Be Lightning Fast If the Fair Weather Continues.

The opening of a full mile racecourse is no extraordinary event anywhere, but the opening of a full mile racetrack that has been built and fully equipped for racing purposes in three weeks' time is an extraordinary occasion, and curiosity to see what has been accomplished in that brief time will swell the usual racing crowd when the Kinloch Park Jockey Club opens its gates to the racing public next Saturday afternoon.

As an actual fact, the full mile course, grandstand, fences, paddock, secretary's office and all the buildings of a first-class racecourse have been put up at Kinloch Park within the last twenty-one days.

The project was not considered until Aug. 1.

It took until Aug. 9 to get the lumber on the grounds and the actual work of construction was not commenced until that day. Veteran turfmen laughed at the very suggestion of a new mile track, properly equipped for racing purposes, being gotten in shape in that time, but the work has all been accomplished and when the Kinloch Park Jockey Club opens its gates on Saturday afternoon those in attendance will see as well equipped a racecourse as there is anywhere in the country.

It will not only be well equipped with buildings, but with officers, for the men who are to hold the responsible positions at the new track stand at the very top in racing circles.

It will be a pleasure to all to see the veteran Col. Jack Chinn handle the flag and to see that congenial gentleman, Joseph J. Burke, in the judges' stand. Both of them were tried in the St. Louis scale long ago and not found wanting.

Many Chicago horses will be here and that will give color to the racing.

Many new faces will be seen in the jockey and trainer group.

When Kinloch was suggested as a location for the new racecourse it was thought by many to be too far out, but the splendid transportation facilities given by the Wabash and Suburban railroads will overcome that prospective drawback, and it will be as easy to attend the races at Kinloch Park as at the Fair Grounds, or any other place.

Col. Bob Pate, who has had charge of the work at Kinloch Park, pointed with pride last night to the new track.

"For a new course," said he, "I don't think anyone ever saw a faster one and there will be very pretty racing done on it Saturday afternoon if the fair weather continues. The track is also splendidly drained and there will be no trouble when the wet weather comes. We look for a good lot of starters in our races. We have applications for stable room from hundreds of owners and 500 horses will be in here by Friday night. By that time all the stables will be ready for occupancy and every one of them will be occupied. President Lucas has thrown the gates of Goodwood Stock Farm open to the horsemen and he will have over 100 thoroughbreds stabled on his premises by the opening day."

THIS IS GETAWAY DAY

THE LOCAL RACING SEASON DRAWS TO A CLOSE WEDNESDAY.

While the favorites did not catch the judges' eyes first past the post in the majority of the contests Tuesday, yet the racing statician of the Post-Dispatch gave some selections that won with large odds slated against them. But why throw bouquets, as the old adage of "figures don't lie," and again, today is the last of the ninety days of successful racing at the Fair Grounds.

The devotees of the racing game, as a rule, dislike references, as they often cause "such a headache." "The sufficient of the day is the evil thereof," and we will figure how to win the last skirmish of the Fair Grounds meeting.

The program for the finale, is an excellent one. However, prognosticating the winners of a get-a-way day is usually a difficult proposition. In the initial contest seven ordinary performers will gallop to the half-mile pole to journey a mile and a half. Of the lot El Derim figures the best, and should bag the long end of the first purse of the last day of the meeting. Pinar Del Rio should be the contender. Should you desire to play a torrid stable tip, wager on Leo Par across the board.

A dozen selling platers will circle the course in the second race. Hard race to pick. If your sporting proclivities require you to bet, on every race wager on either Terry Ranger to win, Belle Simpson for a place or Miss Loretta to show, and if you are very, very lucky you may cash.

The third race looks even tougher than the second. Play Dominick's mount, but as the Post-Dispatch's racing mathematician does not positively know who the Tod Sloan of the local track will ride, he will have to select Sprung and Terralene in the order named. Prince Real should have sufficient staying qualities to show.

The official handicapper must be congratulated for his weights in the fourth race. Every nomination has a chance. However, of the lot, Malay, who will be slated at long odds, looks to be the best bet of the day. Lady Callahan, with Dominick up, should be second, while Go Out, who is a much better colt than he is credited, should certainly be in the lucre.

You have often heard of sports betting that they could pick a horse in each race that would be out of the money. Who would they select in the three-quarter of mile handicap? Take the fifth race and try to select a horse that you think won't be one-two-three. Hard, isn't? Well, it is an difficult to prognosticate the winner. W. J. Baker is one of the gamest horses at the track, and he will be the Post-Dispatch selection. Dorallce was once given you as a good thing, and she was beaten a nose for the purse with the lucrative odds of 40 to 1 slated against her for a place. She should be W. J. Baker's contender Wednesday, while Tom Collins should be third.

Before we say au revoir to everybody from President Auil down to Col. Mathews, who protects the members of the press from onslaught of beverage purchasers, the talent will have an opportunity to witness Starter Bruen daily with 12 juveniles. Taking it for granted that the followers of the Post-Dispatch's racing information want expanded bank rolls to open operations next Saturday at the Kinloch Jockey Club, Staff will be given as the probable winner of the 55th race of the meeting. Margaret F. and Obia should battle for the place.

The Post-Dispatch racing mathematician has given notice to have his tents moved to the county where he will inhale pure atmosphere and incidentally see what is "stirring" at the new track. Saturday the noon edition of the Post-Dispatch will give its turf readers the best information that is possible to obtain.

The Post-Dispatch racing statistican is not going to come out with a full page story and tell you all the winners he has or has not picked during the meeting, but it is as sure as that the Kinloch track will be crowded next Saturday, that he has given as many winners and more long-priced horses successful than any paper in

RETURNS OF CORBETT-M'COY FIGHT.

The returns of the Corbett-McCoy fight at Madison Square Garden, New York, Thursday night will be bulletined in front of the Post-Dispatch office on the night of the fight by stereopticon and calcium lights.

The bulletins will come by direct Western Union wire from the ringside. The using of both calcium and stereopticon lights will insure those who come down town a continuous run of newsy bulletins and there will positively be no intermission because of burnt-out carbons.

THE CARDINALS WON SECOND CHICAGO GAME

"Cy" Young Was in Fine Form and Pitched Great Ball—Wallace's Fast Playing at Short—The Team's Chances for Second or Third Place.

Capt. McGraw's speedy lot of baseball manipulators from St. Louis defeated the Chicago anarchists Tuesday afternoon at the Windy City in an exceptionally well-played game by the score of 3 to 2.

"Cy" Young took his regular turn on the slab and the big rail splitter demonstrated that he has not yet joined the has-been class by any means, despite the unkind remarks of a certain local fan not so many days ago. As in the game played in St. Louis with the Loftusites, when Young officiated, he had the crafty Griffith as his opponent on the firing line and again the G. O. M. outpitched the Chicago twirler. Young weakened just a trifle in the final inning and but for that would have registered his second successive shutout. McGraw's brains and Criger's and Wallace's good arms helped him out of a hole, however, and incidentally prevented the Chicagos from tying the score.

With one out and two men on the sacks Ganzel drove a sizzling liner to Young. The ball collided with his lower anatomy and bounded back to the base line. Young gamely went after the sphere, and shot it to McGann as Ganzel slid for the bag. The ball got away from Dan, but Ganzel had injured his ankle, and could not get up. He was carried to the bench and Bresnahan took his place on the base line. Mertes scored when Dexter popped a fly to Burkett, and Bradley's Texas Leaguer sent Green across the plate. Things began to look dark for St. Louis, and the Chicago fans were fondly contemplating a ninth inning victory when the play referred to above was pulled off and the game was saved. Bradley was on first and Bresnahan at third. On the first ball pitched Bradley started for second. Wallace was playing close in behind the pitcher, but Bresnahan, regardless of this fact, started for home the moment the ball left Criger's hand. Wallace's return was swift and accurate, and the Cardinals had clipped another piece from Loftus' scalp.

While the chances of St. Louis landing the championship bunting at this late day are out of the question, still the splendid work of the team since the beginning of the new management has been such that local fans have awakened to the fact that their pets have a good chance of winding up the season in third position, and possibly in second place. But a few points now separate them from the leaders, with the exception of Brooklyn, and if they can continue playing at their present gait their chance of overhauling the Pirates before they return to League Park are extremely bright.

Every man on the team is playing the game of his life, and the quartet of twirlers are pitching phenomenal ball. With these conditions existing throughout the long Eastern trip the aspirations of certain of the Eastern clubs are bound to suffer.

Bobby Wallace's playing at short during the past week has been the fastest in the League. He is covering more ground than he ever did, and is accepting all kinds of difficult chances and very rarely is an error chalked against his record. Kiester is playing a much improved game since McGraw returned to third base and he will continue to do so as long as the little captain occupies the position. McGraw taught Kiester how to play baseball and daily in consequence is always relying upon Mac to help him during a game. When McGraw is out of the game, Kiester's work suffers accordingly.

The Cardinals wind up their series at Chicago Wednesday afternoon and it is to be hoped it will be with a victory. From the Windy City they jump to Pittsburg and will engage the Pirates in mortal combat on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

YOUNG ST. LOUISANS AT CRICKET

Rob Seberman's Eleven Won From H. Patton's Team at Forest Park.

The cricket match between the boy players at Forest Park Tuesday afternoon ended in a victory for Rob Seberman's side by 21 runs. For the victors Pishon and Shands secured double figures. For the losers Moslyn Clinch and Grable Webber showed up the best at the bat, making 10 and 9 respectively. Milo Shand took seven wickets for 31. The first inning and eight in the second. Shrapp's fielding was one of the features of the game. He secured three catches. The score:

AN EXPERT'S VIEW

W. O. INGLIS SEES CORBETT AND M'COY IN TRAINING.

TALKS OF THEM TO POST-DISPATCH.

Corbett Not as Fine as When He Fought Jeffries—McCoy a Much Improved Man.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—W. O. Inglis, the Post-Dispatch's expert on things fistic, has been visiting McCoy and Corbett at their training quarters, where they are preparing for their battle in this city tomorrow night.

Corbett was found to be big, strong and healthy, though not quite so rugged as when he fought Jeffries.

McCoy seemed to be bigger, better and more dangerous than ever before. Whether with the increase of strength and bulk he has preserved his best lung power and stamina Thursday night's test will tell. Mr. Inglis believes he is in excellent condition.

"Corbett will tower over McCoy like a large, kind father ready to wallop his favorite son," writes Mr. Inglis. "Corbett is at least 10 pounds bigger than the ambitious 'Kid.' He is not only an inch and a half taller, but he is much broader and heavier above the waist line. In the legs there is little to choose between the men. It is in the body that Jim will show as a heavyweight against a middleweight.

"Is Corbett fit for a long, hard, bruising battle? It seems to me that he is not so well prepared as he was last May, when he made such a splendid showing against the gigantic Jeffries. Nevertheless, he is as strong and quick as ever. Then he seemed able to fight a whole football eleven. Now such a big contract might prove a shade too laborious.

"If I had two weeks more of this training I'd be just right," he said to the writer. There is no doubt that two weeks more would do Corbett much good. Yet here is how he is today:

"His eyes are clear as crystal. He weighs 185 pounds or pretty near it. His skin is soft and fine, and of healthy hue, although quite whole. His legs and thighs are drawn fine, but have plenty of muscle on them. The muscles around the waist and abdomen are well hardened by brisk work. His arms, neck and shoulders are well covered with rugged muscles, though they are not so prominent as they were at the time of the Jeffries fight. He has boxed with five clever men each day, and at his Bath Beach quarters has followed the best known rules. However, he has smoked cigars, which might be questioned, though British fighters are permitted to use a pipe."

McCoy's size will surprise everyone. He has trained hard at Saratoga.

"The man is a giant," says Mr. Inglis. "He is just as different from the thin, lathy, slab-sided fellow who fought Tom Sharkey as the big, hardened center rush on a 'varsity football team is different from the boy he was while at 'prep' school. He admits weighing 168 pounds, stripped, but he looks to me every bit of 172 pounds.

"If mere appearances won battles, then no one on earth could beat Kid McCoy. His eyes are clear and wonderfully bright, his skin is smooth as satin, his muscles are all big and outstanding. That long muscle which runs diagonally across the inner part of the forearm, from the inner edge of the wrist to the outer end of the elbow, stands out as if some one had inserted a section of a cable under the skin. That is the muscle with which McCoy delivers his corkscrew punch—an inward twisting of the fist for a distance of six inches or less that shatters bone where it lands and benumbs its victim.

"It is with this punch, delivered with either hand in face or body, whether going in or dodging away, that McCoy does most of his punishing. He will have the punch with him in the ring in fine working order.

"McCoy's preparation for the battle might well be called training de luxe. Old Fogg or Gentleman Jackson or any other of the ancient masters would exclaim horror against it. They used to think the more emaciated a man became the finer was his condition.

"McCoy's methods are the furthest departure from the old style. If there are any finer chickens and steaks and fresh vegetables than the supply he found, no one has yet discovered them. I don't think that eating this food, broiled by artists at the grill, did McCoy a particle of harm, although sundry wise men shake their heads over his departure from ancient customs."

BOTH MEN ARE CONFIDENT.

Corbett and McCoy Tell How They Expect to Win Thursday Night.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Corbett and McCoy have practically completed training for their fight tomorrow night in the ring of the Twentieth Century Club in Madison Square Garden.

Corbett has done his work at Bath Beach and has trained more carefully for this mill than he did for his battle with Fitzsimmons in Carson City or for his bout with Jeffries at Coney Island.

"I'm so confident of winning from McCoy," he said, "that I'm ready, as I have already announced, to meet either Fitzsimmons or Jeffries on the night following my battle with the 'Kid.' I think I will be in the lead all the way and I am ready to bet that the 'Kid' does not go the limit of 25 rounds with me."

A dispatch from Saratoga says of McCoy: "Kid McCoy has no doubt of the result of his fight with Corbett and believes that he will win within 10 rounds. He will start for New York today (Wednesday).

"'I will be the most surprised man in the business if I don't win,' the 'Kid' said. 'I think I will win because, if I do say it myself, I believe I am a cleverer man than Corbett, and everybody admits that I can hit harder than he. So that if I am cleverer and if I can hit harder it can end only in one way and that is in my being returned the winner.'"

CHOYNSKI TOO SICK TO FIGHT.

The Proposed Battle With Maher Has Been Declared Off.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The heavyweight fight between Peter Maher and Joe Choynski, which was to have taken place at the Broadway Athletic Club last night, had to be declared off on account of Choynski's sickness.

Choynski, who had been training on Staten Island, came up to the city Tuesday evening and went to his room in the Colonnade Hotel, next door to the clubhouse. About 7 o'clock he had an attack of stomach trouble, and a physician was hurriedly summoned. The doctor, after examining Choynski, said that he was totally unfit to take part in any ring contest.

As soon as Manager Michael Padden of the Broadway Athletic Club heard this he declared the bout off and refunded the money to the spectators who had already paid for admission.

Choynski is not seriously afflicted, but it will be impossible for him to meet Maher before the expiration of the Horton law, which allows boxing in this state.

Pugilistic Pointers.

The Post-Dispatch has published a small book, containing the complete records of James J. Corbett and "Kid" McCoy. They can be secured upon application at Post-Dispatch. These books are valuable to the followers of the pugilistic game.

There are letters for "Kid" Page and "Dummy" Schenk at Post-Dispatch office.

I CURE MALE MALADIES ONLY.

I do not care to enlist the interest of the casual reader, but I invite the earnest attention of men, men only, and only such men as are afflicted with disease or weakness peculiar to their sex. Male maladies alone constitute my specialty. I treat nothing else. I began a special study of them soon after graduating from college, now nearly a quarter of a century ago, and during all the years since then they have been my study and persistent practice. Am I not better prepared, then, to combat and conquer such ailments than the general practitioner, who lacks the teachings of experience in specialty cases?

Varicocele.

Under my treatment this insidious disease rapidly disappears. Pain ceases almost instantly. The pools of stagnant blood are driven from the dilated veins, and all soreness and swelling quickly subside. Every indication of varicocele soon vanishes, and in its stead come the pride, the power and the pleasure of perfect health and restored manhood.

Stricture.

My cure dissolves the stricture completely and removes every obstruction from the urinary passage, allays all inflammation, stops every unnatural discharge, relieves the prostate gland when enlarged, cleanses and heals the bladder and kidneys when irritated or congested, invigorates the sexual organs, and restores health and soundness to every part of the body affected by the disease.

Contagious Blood Poison.

My special form of treatment for contagions is practically the result of my life work and is indorsed by the best physicians of this and foreign countries. It contains no dangerous drugs or injurious medicines of any kind. It goes to the very bottom of the disease and forces out every particle of impurity. Soon every sign and symptom disappears completely and forever. The blood, the tissue, the flesh, the bones and the whole system are cleansed, purified and restored to perfect health, and the patient prepared anew for the duties and pleasures of life.

Nervo-Sexual Debility.

My cure for weak men stops every drain of vigor and builds up the muscular and nervous system, purifies and enriches the blood, cleanses and heals the bladder and kidneys, invigorates the liver, revives the spirits, brightens the intellect, and above and beyond all, restores the wasted power of sexual manhood.

Reflex Diseases.

Many ailments are reflex, originating from other diseases. For instance, private weakness sometimes comes from Varicocele or Stricture, innumerable blood and bone diseases often result from contagious taints in the system, and physical and mental decline frequently follow impotency. In treating disease of any kind I always remove the effect as well as the cause.

Correspondence.

One personal visit is always preferred, but if you cannot call at my office write me your symptoms fully. My home treatment for correspondents is always successful. I make no charge for private counsel, and give to each patient a legal contract in writing, backed by abundant capital, to hold for my promise. Physicians having stubborn cases are cordially invited to consult me. Address W. A. COOK, M. D., or

THE MARKETS.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Aug. 29.

There was a good deal today to encourage a higher corn market, and seemingly wheat ought to have gone higher, but at the opening little change was seen in the coarse grain, and the other was a shade lower.

Liverpool wheat opened ⅛d up and corn 1@1¼d advanced. Later Liverpool was ⅛@¼d up for wheat and ¾@1d up for corn.

Chicago September wheat opened at 74½@74⅛c and October at 75@75¼c. September corn at 40@40½c and October at 38½@39¼c.

New York—September wheat, 79¾c; December, 81⅞c. September corn, 45⅛c and December, 41⅝c. St. Louis—September wheat, 71¼c and December 74¼c. The corn futures did not open till late.

The market was very quiet today, there being little new in the general situation which would cause any decided changes.

Receipts continue to decrease, but the stocks in St. Louis elevators are still large and increased slowly from day to day.

The weather—Fair tonight and Thursday. The barometer is highest over the lake region and the lowest over Utah. Rainfall occurred over portions of Tennessee, Georgia, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and northwestern territory. The temperature has risen in the Dakotas and has changed but little elsewhere. Generally fair weather prevails in all sections.

The market was slow to get into its gait, and for some time there was scarcely a change in wheat prices, but later the market began to gradually work, helped along by a shade better demand, and not too good a crop outlook, as shown by the weekly government crop review.

The light receipts at the local market, combined with a more bullish feeling in some quarters, gave wheat some upward boosts.

Reports of heavy rains in Minnesota have been common of late, but today they received official confirmation in the crop review. It stated that the grain in shock is molding badly on account of the heavy showers. In the Dakotas and the region where the wheat is yet uncut the ground is so wet that the reapers cannot be moved over it, and the grain has to remain uncut, and fast getting overripe. In Texas wheat seeding is being delayed on account of the lack of moisture.

Traders are more bullishly inclined at present. They consider the situation as decidedly favorable to higher prices, and although many are conservative and unwilling to predict any violent advances, they consider the situation as ripe for a gradual advance in wheat prices.

Stocks of grain at Minneapolis are small; the decrease there so far this week is 465,000 bu.

Owing to the lack of good grain in that market the wheat received from that region being poor, millers are taking about all the good wheat, both new and old. Receipts are not large enougnt to supply the demand.

Mills are running strong on account of the better flour demand, and also advance in freight rates going into effect Sept. 1. No. 1 northern is now 1¼c over Sept.

Stocks of grain at Chicago for the week show good increases. Stocks of grain in public houses, 11,401,000 bu, an increase of 216,000 bu. Stock in private houses, 5,515,000 bu, an increase of 495,000 bu. Stock, both public and private, 16,916,000 bu, an increase of 711,000 bu.

Liverpool wheat closed ½@¾d up for the day. Paris closed 20@40 centimes, or 1@2c down. Berlin closed ⅛c up. Buda Pesth closed ⅜c up.

Sept. wheat did a good deal of fluctuating in a narrow range. After opening at 71¼c, it sold at 71⅛c and at 71c, and then hung around the two first figures for some time. Later it advanced to 71⅜c, 71⅜@71½c and to 71½c.

Dec. was traded in at 74¼c, 74⅛c, 74c, 74⅛c and again at 74¼c.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth today were 299 cars, as compared with 375 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis today were 61,777 bushels, compared with 62,830 bushels same date last year. Of these 2212 sacks and 71 cars were local, compared with 6258 sacks and 56 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at primary points today were 1,320,834 bushels, as compared with 695,000 bushels same date last year.

Shipments, 586,489 bushels, compared with 459,000 bushels same date last year.

The pit was not interested in the corn market and especially the September futures.

December opened at 33⅞c, but the best that could be done for September was a bid of 38⅝c.

Liverpool closed ⅞d up for corn, but this did not cause as bullish a feeling on this side as might have been expected.

Trading was light most of the day up till near the end of the session only the one sale being recorded and very few bid or offer prices.

The Chicago stock of corn is decreasing. Stock in public houses at present is 785,000 bushels, a decrease of 78,000 bushels for the week. Stock in private houses is 800,000 bushels, a decrease of 357,000 bushels. The total stock in both public and private houses is 1,585,000 bushels, a decrease of 435,000 bushels for the week.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis today were 48,800 bu, compared with 94,400 bu same date last year. Of these 20 cars were local, compared with 30 cars same date last year.

Receipts of corn at primary points today were 515,160 bu, as compared with 935,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 373,167 bu, compared with 417,000 bu same date last year.

The oats market was practically dead today, and it seemed impossible to bring it to life again. None of the futures were well taken, and small change in price was made during the day.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis today were 32,650 bu, compared with 27,600 bu same date last year. Of these 50 sacks and 26 cars were local, compared with 22 cars same date last year.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Corn was the storm center during early trade today. An advance at Liverpool of 1d, the 1c bulge at New York yesterday, light country acceptances and a decrease in local contract stocks of 42,000 bushels put shorts in a panicky condition. September opened ½c to 1c over Monday at 40c to 40½c. On profit-taking the market reacted to 39¾c, but recovered sharply to 40c. Receipts were 457 cars. Local contract stocks are now 321,000 bushels.

Wheat was quiet but firm, helped by higher Liverpool cables, the corn strength and reports of cash business. September opened ⅛@⅜c higher to a shade lower at 74⅛c to 74⅜c, and rallied from the bottom figure to 74⅝c. There was a very light outside demand apparent at the start, but offerings were also scarce. The buying was mostly because of reports of export buying. Receipts (two days) here were 976 cars, 68 of contract grade, while Minneapolis and Duluth reported 293 cars, against 252 cars last week and 373 a year ago.

Later news was bullish. Liverpool closed strong; an estimate of the crop of the United Kingdom showed a shrinkage from last year of 12,000,000 bu. Cash sales here since Monday aggregate 700,000 bu and the seaboard reported 91 loads taken for export today. Corn strength was also a help. Sept. sold up to 75⅛@75¼c and closed strong ⅞c higher at 75@75¼c.

The market closed strong at the top, Sept., 1½c higher at 41c.

Dullness marked the oats market. September opened a shade higher at 21⅝@21¾c, in sympathy with corn, but reacted to 21⅝c on liberal offerings. Receipts were 788 cars.

WALL STREET.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The very few stocks traded in at the opening today showed small gains. The better tone in London on the British successes in South Africa helped the opening here. The market was, however, extremely lethargic.

Strength showed in a few specialties on a moderate buying movement. Steel and Wire, Federal Steel, Tennessee Coal and Brooklyn Transit were the leaders, and rose a point each. Railroad stocks made slight gains. Better trade reports accounted for the rise in the steel group. Continental Tobacco preferred and Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville preferred reacted a point each from yesterday's rise, and the general tone was easier at 11 o'clock.

Sugar relapsed from 129, and realizing in Brooklyn Transit had only a temporary depressing effect on the market. Prices again hardened and Tin Plate common and preferred and National Steel became prominent, with a rise of about a point each. Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg advanced 3 points in one transaction. Bonds were neglected, with the limited transactions showing irregularity.

STOCK YARD NOTES.

The shipments Monday were fairly large, amounting to eight carloads. Two consignments of big mules went to the East, a load of mules South and several consignments of horses to the South and local points. The record follows: Maxwell & Crouch Mule Co., Pottsville, Pa., mules; J. R. Mears, Scranton, Pa., mules; J. B. Stoffel, Charleston, S. C., mules; L. C. Barnett, Cartersville, Ill., horses; John P. Moore, Mobile, Ala., horse and mules; J. H. Hamilton, Stuttgart, Ark., horses; W. S. Tough & Son, Bismark, Kan., horses; Guyton & Harrington, Lathrop, Mo., horses.

Although a slow condition has been quoted in the mule market during the past two weeks, it does not follow that the choicest qualities are not bringing high prices. Extra grade mules are selling for as much or more money at present than has been obtained for the class in years. Last week an example of this was shown when a fancy pair weighing 3200 pounds sold for $475 on the commission market, the highest figure reported from that quarter in a long time, if not the highest price ever paid to a country shipper. Again this week a strictly choice bunch of 16-hand mules were sold as a full carload for $135 around.

The run of fresh commission arrivals in the mule market during the first two days has been only moderate, thereby occasioning no great activity in the market. Some of the very best prime offerings have changed hands quickly at very strong prices, but the majority of them, the medium and ordinary kinds, have not been in any urgent demand by the dealers, and have been selling slowly. Yet the renewed British buying, though of a limited character, has communicated a better undertone to the market, and the feeling of dullness prevalent last week is not this week so manifest. Not much southern trade has yet developed, but the time is approaching when the dealers expect a considerable volume of trade. Collectively, the market appears on a better basis than a week ago.

HE WASN'T DEAD IN ILLINOIS

Charlie Walters Came Home to His Mother.

HAS ROAMED EVERYWHERE.

DEAD BOY FOUND WITH NAME IN POCKET.

Fifteen-Year-Old St. Louis Lad Who Has a Bad Habit of Disappearing From His Home.

Dear Mother: I'm all right. I landed in town this morning. Will be at home as soon as I am cleaned up. CHARLES.

This note was sent by Charles Walters, 4220 Lucky street, to his mother Tuesday afternoon. An hour later he arrived at his home, from which he had been gone since June 25.

Charles is 15 years old. Probably no boy of his age in St. Louis has seen as much of this country as he.

He has traveled from coast to coast and from the great lakes to the Mexican border.

Few cents have the railroads received from him, for at the early age of 15 he has learned the hobo's art of beating the railroads.

Charlie's mother has often been worried for his welfare, but never as much as the last time he left home, for a few days ago she received word that a boy answering her son's description had been killed in southern Illinois.

In the dead boy's pockets was even found a small book such as the mother knew her son sometimes carried, bearing the name of Charles Walters.

The boy's relatives were just preparing to have the remains sent to St. Louis for interment, should they prove to be those of Charles Walters of St. Louis, when the note giving the glad news of his safety was received.

Charlie arrived in St. Louis early Tuesday morning. He did not go home at once but instead tried to secure employment.

Meeting a friend on the street, Charlie's attention was called to an item in a newspaper, stating that it was supposed he had been killed by a train in Illinois. It was then he wrote the above note and sent it to his mother.

Charlie's sister, in discussing his wanderings Tuesday, said to the Post-Dispatch: "We found long ago that we could not keep Charlie at home. At first he ran away, but the last two or three times he has told us when he was going and bade us good-by.

"Mother has often asked him to write to us once in a while, if nothing more than a postal card. 'O, I have no time to write,' he said.' 'I don't stay in one place long enough.'

"We were worried when we heard of the death of the boy in Illinois, and were preparing to go and see if it was our Charlie."

ROLAND QUENTIN RETURNED.

Former Treasurer of the Eagle Boat Store Brought Back From Oregon for Trial.

Roland B. Quentin, who was brought back to St. Louis Tuesday night to answer the charge of embezzlement placed against him sixteen months ago, refuses to talk of the charges or tell of his travels in the period during which he has been a fugitive from justice.

Quentin was secretary and treasurer of the Eagle Boat Store, 517 North Levee, before his departure from the city in April, 1899. His disappearance came at almost the same time as the discovery that a discrepancy involving the sum of $18,000 existed in the company's accounts. He was followed over the country by detectives, and was arrested two weeks ago in Portland, Ore.

CHURCH SUES FOR INSURANCE.

Colored First Baptist of Webster Wants Its Money.

The First Baptist Church (colored) of Webster Groves brought suit in the Circuit Court at Clayton Tuesday against the Webster Groves Town Mutual Fire Insurance Co. for $1600, the amount for which the church building was insured.

The building was burned last October, and the insurance company has refused to pay the amount of the policy.

The church gained considerable notoriety several years ago through the efforts of its minister, a man named Alexander, to get the property into his own possession.

He contrived to get some sort of a title to it, and there is now a suit pending in the court to force him to give up his claims.

It is said that this is the reason the insurance company has failed to pay over the $1600 insurance. It claims the title is not clear, and it is not certain to whom the money should be paid.

MANY PRETTY GIRLS

ARE GETTING VOTES FOR

QUEEN OF CARNIVAL

Several have been voted for in the carnival contest who are quite young and who are in their first year in society. Probably the youngest of them all is Miss Annie May Elmer, who is not yet 17. She has the stature and dignity and development, however, which commonly belong to the young woman of 20 or 22.

She is an unusually attractive brunette of graceful bearing and gracious ways and is entirely qualified in every way for the honor for which her friends have nominated her.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elmer of South Jackson street.

COMEDIAN WARREN

IN A SHIRT WAIST

RESENTED A JOKE

HE STRUCK A MAN WHO COMMENTED ON HIS ATTIRE.

WARREN WAS FULL OF FIGHT.

Later He Offered to Renew the Encounter, but the Commentator on Shirtwaists Was Not Game.

Let us remember day by day,
Though many things do weary us,
That to the funny man this life
Is nothing else but serious.
Though you may chaff or even guy
The heavy-browed tragedian,
Don't ever, ever, while you live,
Get funny with a comedian!

Fred Warren, who does a black-face stunt at the Suburban Garden, and sings ze grande rag-time coon song, is in more trouble than a "ham" walking railroad ties.

It all came about because of a shirtwaist—a brand-new, au fait, bong tong, en regaly masculine shirtwaist—of which the hefty comedian is the owner.

It happened like this: Mr. Warren, whom nature constructed on the graceful architectural lines of a brick house, was one of the first to appreciate the good points of the male shirtwaist, and he proceeded immediately to lay in a supply.

Tuesday evening, on a Suburban car, near the garden, Mr. Warren looked around, instinctively murmuring: "I thought I Heard Somebody Callin' Me." On second thoughts he arose and "landed" on the nose of the man behind him, who, with the young woman by whom he was accompanied, had passed slighting remarks concerning the appearance of the Warren shirtwaist.

The couple hurriedly disappeared in the crowd at the garden. Later in the evening, while the thought of the indignities heaped upon his apparel still rankled in his mind, Warren thought: "In Loozyana I Could Die" for another punch at this offender, and therefore sought him out, but the commentator on shirtwaists refused to fight.

Now Warren is sore.

RHYMER

DUNBAR
BY A SMOOTH
STRANGER

ROBBED

Paul Lawrence Dunbar, the negro poet, was recently robbed in a saloon in New York's tenderloin, after having listened to a stranger telling him how "good" he was, and after having partaken of a drink with his new acquaintance.

A poet who is smooth indeed, a bard of Ethiopian breed, Dunbar by name, went forth to coin experience in the Tenderloin.

"TAKE THIS ON ME."

The Tenderloin, as you must know, if Gothamward you chance to go, is where the rounders nightly meet, and lies near Forty-second street.

There, once of late, the bard repaired, where sports their views on betting aired, not dreaming of remorse or strife, seeking a touch of "strenuous life."

"THIS ONE IS ON YOU."

A talk the poet dabbled in with one, a sapient son of sin—a "smoke" whose ways were full of guile and who undid him with a smile.

This sporty coon, whose manner suave was all he happened then to have, thought deeply how he might purloin, by quickest means, the poet's coin.

For this here Ethiopian hard had money that was good and hard, and diamonds just as fair and bright as ever pleased a woman's sight.

And so it came that Mr. Coon filled Dunbar full of flattery soon, and made him understand, you see, he was the IT of Poetry.

The poet, quicker than a wink, swelled up and bought another drink, and then this sapient son of sin a bit of poison dropped therein.

Alas! That thought still comes to mar the happy visions of Dunbar, for when he woke and looked around his windy friend could not be found.

Nor could he find in all that place of his possessions even a trace, and very soon he realized he had been robbed and victimized.

And now this Ethiopian bard, who reels off poems by the yard, no more will linger in saloons or pestilate with stranger coons.

This moral is, my boy, beware of him who deals in "heated air."

RIOT OVER A RIGHT OF WAY

Transit and Suburban Companies Tried to Beat Each Other With Tracks to Florissant Avenue.

The courts will pass on the title to the right-of-way on Florissant avenue, near Union boulevard, for which rival gangs of transit company and Suburban workmen contended with fists and shovels Tuesday night.

The police put a stop to the efforts of the employes of the two companies to settle the matter by an appeal to brute force. One transit employe, William McGaffney, was arrested on the charge of carrying concealed weapons and resisting an officer.

The trouble arose from the desire of the rival lines to beat each other in reaching a connection with the Florissant avenue extension, which runs to Walnut Park, a residence suburb. The Suburban recently secured a permit to lay a switch to connect its Union boulevard line with this short road, which has been run merely for the accommodation of visitors to Walnut Park.

The terminus of the Bellefontaine line is adjacent to the point of the proposed switch, and the transit company also decided to make a connection. This caused a conflict over the right-of-way, and the crisis came Tuesday night, when the transit men tried to tear up the track laid by the Suburban men. This work of demolition was resisted, and a riot ensued.

HE PROPOSES TO HANG

WHENEVER GUILT IS SURE

RECKLESS MOTORMEN

Dr. Heine Marks Declares He Is Making Arrangements to Organize a Vigilance Committee.

Dr. Heine Marks, formerly superintendent of the City Hospital, believes in resorting to heroic measures in order to lessen the number of street car accidents.

"The city is at the mercy of the street car companies," he said to the Post-Dispatch. "I am going to call a meeting and organize a vigilance committee that will hang any motorman who runs down anybody without excuse.

"My plan is to call a meeting at my office first, and there arrange for a big mass meeting to be held later in a hall. When the weather is a little cooler I shall do this.

"I am tired of seeing people killed and cut up by these street cars. I am not talking because I want to create the impression that I am a union man, either, for both the Suburban and the transit cars are run recklessly.

"There is a law requiring motormen to ring their gongs at a certain distance from street corners. Few of them do this. They ring their gongs when right upon a person. I frequently drive out and am in danger of being run over. The gong rings when the car is within a few feet of me, instead of giving me warning from a reasonable distance.

"Many of these cases of cars running too fast are occasioned by the fact that the car has lost time and is trying to make it up so that it can adhere to the schedule. In trying to make up lost time they will run at lightning speed, even down town, through crowded streets. Is it any wonder that accidents happen so frequently?

"Since the city authorities will do nothing, and the street car companies do not seem disposed to make their employes obey the laws, the people should take the matter into their own hands.

"So I am going to see that this vigilance committee is organized, and we will have members on duty everywhere, and whenever a casualty results somebody will be strung up.

"If after investigation we find that the guilty person is higher up than the motorman or the conductor, we will hang the higher party."

DIAMOND SUNBURST IN PAWN

Miss Howland Surreptitiously Raised Money on Mother's Jewels and Pawnbroker Is Sued.

First—
A simple sunburst,
Then a daughter burst,
Then a son burst,
Then an outburst,
And now a cloudburst
Over that sunburst.

A diamond sunburst has caused a cloudburst in the family of S. D. Howland, 4615 Delmar boulevard, local livestock agent for Great Britain.

Mrs. Howland has filed suit against Julius and Simon Van Raalte, pawnbrokers, to recover a sunburst valued at $350.

Miss Mamie Eloise Howland, the 17-year-old daughter, pawned the jewel to get money to attend matinees. She lived in East St. Louis then, and frequently wore the sunburst to this city with her mother's consent.

One day she was induced by girl companions to pawn the diamond for $7. Later she raised other sums on it, amounting in all to $52. She and the other girls had good times.

When Miss Howard tried to redeem the sunburst by offering her own diamond ring, her brother's gold watch donated for the occasion, and $15 in money, she found that the time limit had expired. Hence the cloudburst.

OLD PIKE ALL STIRRED UP

Mayor of Louisiana Had Himself Arrested and Fined on Account of Two St. Louisans.

Special dispatches from Louisiana, Mo., show that the career in that town of Harry Grisser and John Carroll of St. Louis has resulted in an extraordinary police case in which the mayor had himself arrested and fined for assault.

As stated in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch, young Grisser and Carroll, who are spending two weeks and all sorts of money at Louisiana, were fined in the mayor's court for fast driving.

Just after Mayor J. L. Cole had assessed and collected the damages he went to Del Bowman's saloon to congratulate himself. Ernest Pew, a printer and prominent political personage, was present. Mr. Pew accused the mayor of charging $20 costs in excess of the legal fees in the case.

Mayor Cole denied this. Pew called him a liar. The Mayor clinched his denial by clubbing Pew with his cane.

Pew started out to get a state warrant against the mayor for assault. The Mayor headed him off by going to Jesse Anderson, mayor pro tem., and saying:

"I have assaulted Ernest Pew, and I want to be arrested and tried for it immediately."

Anderson at once convened the Mayor's court and accommodated the mayor by fining him $1 and costs, which the mayor paid.

Mayor Cole says that as he cannot be tried twice on the same charge he has no fear of Pew's state warrant.

Grisser and Carroll are still painting old Pike, and their parents in St. Louis are wondering where they got the money.

HAS SUED THE PACIFIC BANK

William Coil of Glencoe, Mo., Asks $10,000 Damages for False Imprisonment.

The Pacific Bank of Pacific, Mo., and its officers are the defendants in a $10,000 damage suit filed in the Circuit Court at Clayton.

William Coil of Glencoe, Mo., is the plaintiff. He claims that the officers of the bank had him arrested on June 23, and that as a result he was imprisoned in the Franklin County jail for six days.

The charge was that of obtaining money under false pretenses. The amount Coil was said to have obtained was $700.

Coil claims that the charge was brought against him merely to force the $700 out of him. He says he was arraigned before Justice C. C. Close of Franklin County and held for hearing. He could not furnish the $1000 bond required and was held in jail until the payment of the $700 by his wife led the bank officials to dismiss the case.

Zach J. Mitchell of Kirkwood, one of the attorneys for the plaintiff, said that Coil cashed a pension check for $700 at the Pacific bank, and that afterward some of his enemies told the officers of the bank that he had obtained the check by fraud.

Coil claims he had a right to it since it was payable to minors over whom he was at the time acting as guardian.

He claims to have been greatly injured by the proceedings brought against him by the bank.
